WILSON BARES TO WORLD PEACE EFFORT IN MEXICO

READS TO CONGRESS MESSAGE OF DETAILS

President, in Tone Friendly But Firm, Makes Definite Declaration of Uncle Sam's Position

OCCASION UNPARALLELED IN CENTURY

Washington, Aug. 27.—President Wilson appeared in person before congress today and laid bare to the world the details of this nation's efforts to bring about peace in Mexico; the facts concerning Huerta's rejection of the peace proposals and the policy to be pursued now by this government.

The president announced the position of the United States as follows:

No armed intervention.

Strict neutrality "forbidding the exportation of arms or munitions of war of any kind from the United States to any part of the republic of Mexico."

Under no circumstances to be "the partisans of either party to the contest that now distracts Mexico or constitute ourselves the virtual umpire between them."

To urge all Americans to leave Mexico at once and to assist them to get away in every way possible.

To let every one in Mexico who assumes to exercise authority know that this government "shall vigilantly watch the fortunes of those Americans who cannot get away and shall hold those responsible for their sufferings and losses to a definite reckoning."

"That can and will be made plain beyond the possibility of a misunderstanding," declared the president.

Negotiations for the friendly mediation of the United States are open to resumption at any time upon either the initiative of this government or of Mexico.

The Mexican Alternative.

Accompanying the president's address was the reply of the Huerta government rejecting the American proposals. It was written by Foreign Minister Gamboa. It suggested the following alternative policy for the United States:

Reception of a Mexican ambassador in Washington.

That the United States send a new ambassador to Mexico without restraints.

Strict observance of the neutrality laws and see to it that no material or monetary assistance is given to the rebels."

Unconditional recognition of the Huerta government.

No Parallel in Century.

The occasion had not been paralleled in more than a century. No other president since George Washington has appeared before congress on a foreign affair.

The senate and house assembled in the house chamber, the senators filing in two by two. As the president mounted the platform where Speaker Clark and Vice President Marshall were waiting the big chamber was hushed. Attired in a conventional frock coat suit the president stood at the clerk's desk and read his address in the easy conversational tone for which he is noted. Scarcely a sound interrupted.

First pointing out that it was his duty "without reservation" to lay all the facts concerning the relations of the United States with Mexico, the president outlined what the United States had done "as a friend and neighbor." Asserting that this nation was "glad to call itself the friend of Mexico and hoping for many future occasions to show that disinterested friendship," the president declared that "we shall yet prove to the Mexican people that we know how to serve them without first thinking how we shall serve ourselves."

Describing Mexican conditions and the events that led up to the negotiations just concluded, President Wilson outlined how "war and disorder, starvation and confusion, seem to threaten to become the settled fortune of the distracted country." As friends, he said, this country could wait no longer for a solution of things in the sister republic.

The Instructions to Lind.

President Wilson read his instructions to John Lind.

"All America cries out for a settlement," read the note Mr. Lind bore to Mexico. "A satisfactory settlement seems to us to be conditioned on:

An immediate cessation of fighting throughout Mexico, a definite armistice solemnly entered into and scrupulously observed.

Security given for an early and free election in which all will agree to take part.

The consent of General Huerta to bind himself not to be a candidate for election as president of the republic at this election, and

The agreement of all parties to abide by the results of the election and co-operate in the most loyal way in organizing and supporting the new administration.

COMES JUST IN NICK OF TIME

Relief Barely Reaches Six Members of Antarctic Expedition.

SUPPLIES WERE GONE

Christ Church, New Zealand, Aug. 27.—Relief arrived just in the nick of time to save the lives of Dr. Douglas Mawson, the Australian Antarctic explorer, and his five companions who were left in March last on Macquarie island in the Antarctic ocean when the remaining twenty-four members of Dr. Mawson's expedition returned to Tasmania.

The six men were believed to have ample provisions to last them until the Antarctic spring, but the commander of a government steamer recently sent to their relief reports that the explorers had exhausted all their supplies and had been living for some time on the hearts and tongues of sea elephants. All of them were obviously in very weak condition when the relief ship reached them. Dr. Mawson's expedition was unfortunate in losing by death two of its members owing to accidents on the ice—Lieut. Ninnis, an English army officer, and Dr. Xavier Mertz, a Swiss scientist. The original expedition left Hobart, Tasmania, on Dec. 2, 1911, its principal object being the exploration and survey of the Antarctic coast line.

When the Aurora went to fetch the explorers early this year the vessel was forced to leave before taking off Dr. Mawson and five of his companions, as she was in danger of being crushed by the ice.

MEAT AND EGGS IN STORAGE 7 YEARS

Big Assortment of Vintage of 1906 Condemned in Philadelphia.

GAME OF 1911 SEIZED

Philadelphia, Aug. 27.—More than 100,000 pounds of meat and eggs, which have been in the cold storage houses of this city since 1906, were condemned yesterday by agents for the state dairy and food commission and warrants were issued today for the arrest of the dealers responsible for the "unfit" products.

In addition, 40,000 pounds of game which was stored in 1911 was tagged as unfit for food.

Under the new cold storage act, which went into effect Aug. 14, there is a penalty of $500 or imprisonment, or both, for storing beef more than four months; pork, sheep and lamb, six months; veal, three months; butter and fish, nine months; fowls, five months; undrawn, ten months.

MEET ON TOP OF MOUNT MANITOU

Burro Races Along Trails as Diversion for the Governors.

LISTER AS SPEAKER

Colorado Springs, Col., Aug. 27.—An executive session 9,500 feet above sea level, on top of Mount Manitou, in the shadow of Pike's Peak, was a feature of today's program of the governors' conference. An improvised banquet hall was arranged to accommodate several hundred and luncheon was served to visiting executives in the open air pavilion on the mountain side. Burro races along the mountain trails, in which the governors took keen delight, were a feature unexpectedly provided for their entertainment.

Governor Ernest Lister, of Washington, spoke on "A State Department of Efficiency and Economy," taking the place of Governor Cruce, of Oklahoma, on the program. Gov. Cruce wired his regrets at not being able to attend the conference, stating that he was unwilling to leave the affairs of state in the hands of the lieutenant governor in view of the recent trouble over state matters with that official.

JANGLE GETS ON HORSES' NERVES

SHE OPPOSES BELLS

Washington, Aug. 27.—Horses with ears attuned to music who have been tortured by the discordant jangle of bells hung around their necks or attached to the shafts of the vehicles they draw have found a champion. A fashionably dressed woman today filed formal protest against this newest form of cruelty with Secretary John P. Heap, of the local humane society. Mr. Heap promised he would investigate the matter.

"It's perfectly dreadful," said the woman, whose name Mr. Heap declined to give. "Horses afflicted with a lot of bells all clanging and jangling out of tune are doomed to become nervous wrecks. It is a form of cruelty that will break down the nervous system of any horse."

Mr. Heap assured his caller that he appreciated the torture a musically inclined horse must suffer. He may call in a nerve specialist to aid in the investigation.

SENDS TROOPS TO RACE TRACK

Governor Orders the South Bend and Elkhart Soldiers to End Gambling.

MILITIA NOW AT MINERAL SPRINGS

Ralston Determined to Put Stop to Law-Defying Course There.

Indianapolis, Aug. 27.—Governor Ralston this afternoon ordered two mobilized companies of the Indiana national guard to proceed at once to the Mineral Springs race track in Porter county under command of Major George W. Freyermuth, of South Bend, and stop all racing there. Major Freyermuth has directions also to eject all persons from the grounds except owners and employes.

South Bend and Elkhart companies will reach the track about 4 o'clock. They are company F from South Bend and company E from Elkhart. Part of the official order issued by the governor has not been made public. It is said to contain strong censure of Porter county officials for failure to stop gambling without state interference.

This morning the South Bend and Elkhart companies were placed under marching orders, awaiting word from the governor to proceed to the Mineral Springs track where it is said bookmaking has been carried on openly at the second summer track meeting which opened last Thursday. Governor Ralston said this morning that his investigation of conditions at the track was not complete but that by noon he would have determined whether or not the state troops shall proceed to the track.

Adjutant General McCoy, at the head of the state militia already has gone to some point in northern Indiana and will proceed to the track himself to have command of the situation.

CARNEGIE GETS NEW HONOR.

Grand Cross of Order of Orange-Nassau Conferred at The Hague.

The Hague, Netherlands, Aug. 27.—The grand cross of the order of Orange-Nassau was conferred on Andrew Carnegie today by Queen Wilhelmina, of the Netherlands, in commemoration of inauguration of the palace of peace which takes place tomorrow. A similar decoration was bestowed on Abraham Pieter Cornelis Van Karnebeek, president of the Carnegie foundation, and minor distinctions connected with the palace of peace.

Mr. Carnegie arrived here this morning and is staying at the residence of the United States minister.

NEAR A JURY IN CAMINETTI CASE

"Millionaire" Panel May Be Chosen in the White Slave Trial.

LINE ON THE DEFENSE

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 27.—With six jurors in the box at the opening of court today the outlook was for completion before adjournment of the jury that is to try F. Drew Caminetti on a charge of violating the Mann act, in having taken Lola Norris from Sacramento to Reno, Nev., in company with Maury I. Diggs and Marsha Warrington.

The prosecution already had used four of its six challenges and the defense five of its ten, a fact that tended to expedite the proceedings. Chief interest in the case so far has attached to the qualification of prominent wealthy citizens to sit in judgment on the youthful defendant. A. L. White, a prominent lumber dealer of Oakland; Francis J. Carolan, of Burlingame, capitalist and club man, and E. C. Bradley, of Berkeley, former manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, are three of the members of what the newspapers have begun to term the "millionaire jury."

A line on Caminetti's defense has been revealed in the examination of talesmen. It will be that Caminetti did not take the Norris girl to Reno for the purpose of living with her.

CROWD CHEERS AS THAW WINS

New York State is Ruled Out of Court in Preliminary Skirmish.

JUDGE REFUSES TO HEAR VERRETT

Spectators Leap to Chairs in Wild Demonstration of Pleasure.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 27.—New York state was ruled out of court here today in a dramatic preliminary skirmish with lawyers for Harry K. Thaw, the Matteawan fugitive, fighting deportation.

Superior Judge Globensky, hearing arguments of Thaw's counsel on a motion to discontinue a writ of habeas corpus, absolutely refused to entertain the objections of Hector Verret, representing New York.

This was greeted with a wild outburst of cheering by a thousand Canadian spectators. Thaw, rising, bowed in acknowledgment.

"Hooray for the British flag! Hooray for Harry Thaw!" shrieked men and women standing on chairs waving handkerchiefs, parasols and hats.

Lawyers are Amazed.

When the New Yorkers and their Canadian lawyers got back their breath they assembled in their hotel. Mr. Jerome called reporters aside and dictated this statement:

"We, who represent the state of New York, are entirely unwilling to comment on the scene that occurred in one of His Majesty's courts today. The relations between the bar of the United States and the courts of the Dominion of Canada are most friendly and cordial and we realize keenly the sense of humiliation experienced by our brethren in Canada who are assisting us. Mr. Jacobs, who is associated with us, is present and we would prefer not to say anything with reference to the occurrence of the morning."

Mr. Jerome turned toward Mr. Jacobs and the latter said: "There is nothing I can say. I will say though that this is the first instance to my knowledge where such an outburst in any of our courts was not followed by the immediate clearing of the court."

Bows Like Stage Star.

Thaw bowed three times like a stage star during a curtain call before a sympathetic audience. His cheeks were flushed, his big brown eyes shone, but he maintained his composure.

During the scene in the court room, men and women struggling forward over chairs and benches to shake his hand, swept aside court attendants and uniformed Dominion police and swarmed up to the judge's bench. But Thaw eluded them and slipped into an ante-room. Ten minutes later he was on his way back to the Sherbrooke jail. A great crowd on the court house steps cheered again as he descended.

Another Effort Fails.

Defeated in their first court skirmishes the New York through counsel endeavored this afternoon to persuade Magistrate Dupois, of Coaticook, who original-

CHILDREN MOURN DEATH OF "MISS KATE," THE TOY LADY.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Hundreds of children, with tear-wet eyes, today mourned the passing of "Miss Kate," the toy lady, whose funeral drew them to St. Mary's church. Miss Kate France was proprietor of a store known as the "Lincoln toy shop," because during the civil war "Tad" Lincoln made all his purchases there and often times accompanied by his father, visited the place to feast his eyes on the treasures it contained. Miss France was 63 years old and had "grown up" with the shop.

TEXT OF WILSON'S ADDRESS ON THE MEXICAN SITUATION

Washington, Aug. 27.—President Wilson, in person, addressed congress today on the Mexican situation as follows:

"Gentlemen of the congress: It is clearly my duty to lay before you, very fully and without reservation the facts concerning representations with the republic of Mexico. The deplorable posture of affairs in Mexico I need not describe, but I deem it my duty to speak very frankly of what this government has done and should seek to do in fulfillment of its obligation to Mexico herself, as a friend and neighbor, and to American citizens whose lives and interests are daily affected by the distressing conditions which now obtain beyond our southern border.

Touch Us Nearly.

"Those conditions touch us very nearly. Not merely because they lie at our very door. That of course makes us more visibly and more constantly conscious of them and every instinct of neighborly interest and sympathy is aroused and quickened by them; but that is only one element in the determination of our duty. We are glad to call ourselves the friends of Mexico, and we shall, I hope, have many an occasion, in happier times, as well as in these days of trouble and confusion, to show that our friendship is genuine and disinterested, capable of sacrifice and every generous manifestation. The peace, prosperity and contentment of Mexico means more to us than merely an enlarged field for our commerce and enterprise. They mean an enlargement of the field of self government and the realization of the hopes and rights of a nation with whose best aspirations, so long suppressed and disappointed, we deeply sympathize. We shall yet prove to the Mexican people that we know how to serve them without first thinking how we shall serve ourselves.

Whole World Interested.

"But we are not the only friends of Mexico. The whole world desires her peace and progress, and the whole world is interested as never before. Mexico lies at last where all the world looks on. Central America is about to be touched by the great routes of the world's trade and intercourse running free from ocean to ocean at the isthmus. The future has much in store for Mexico, as for all the states of Central America; but the best gifts can come to her only if she be ready and free to receive them and to enjoy them honorably. America in particular—America north and south and upon both continents—waits upon the development of Mexico, and that development can be sound and lasting only if it be the product of a genuine freedom, a just and ordered government founded upon law. Only such can it be peaceful and fruitful of the benefits of peace. Mexico has a great and enviable future before her, if only she choose and attain the paths of honest constitutional government.

Little Promise of Peace.

"The present circumstances of the republic, I deeply regret to say, do not seem to promise even the foundations of such a peace. We have waited many months, months full of peril and anxiety, for the conditions there to improve, and they have not improved. They have grown worse, rather. The territory in some sort controlled by the provisional authorities at Mexico City has grown smaller, not larger. The prospect of the pacification of the country, even by arms, has seemed to grow more and more remote; and its pacification by the authorities at the capital is evidently impossible by any other means than force. Difficulties more and more entangle those who claim to constitute the legitimate government of the republic. They have not made good their claim in fact. Their successes in the field have proved only temporary. War and disorder, devastation and confusion, seem to threaten to become the fortune of the distracted country. As friends we could wait no longer for a solution which every week seemed further away. It was our duty at least to volunteer our good offices—to offer to assist, if we might, in effecting some arrangement which would bring relief and peace and set up a universally acknowledged political authority there.

Lind and His Mission.

"Accordingly, I took the liberty of sending the Hon. John Lind, formerly governor of Minnesota, as my personal spokesman and representative to the City of Mexico, with the following instructions:

"'Press very earnestly upon the attention of those who are now exercising authority or wielding influence in Mexico the following considerations and advice:

"'The government of the United States does not feel at liberty any longer to stand inactively by while it becomes daily more and more evident that no real

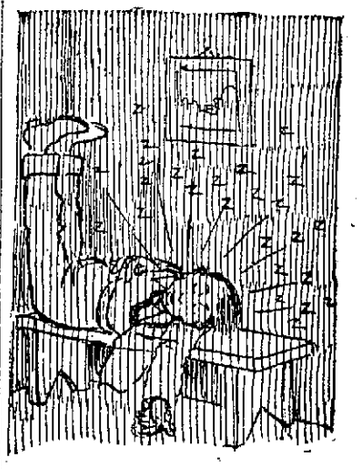
Seeing Chicago

AL FOELLINGER, clerk in the Pennsylvania shops, is planning a trip to Chicago next Sunday morning. Al's plans don't always work out, therefore it would be hazardous to say with positiveness that he is going to Chicago at the time indicated. Here's the reason for being so cautious about announcing that Al is really going:

Last Sunday morning Mr. Foellinger arose at 2 o'clock and reached the Pennsylvania depot about 2:30; his train, No. 15, wasn't scheduled to leave until 3:30, and was announced as forty-five minutes late. Mr. Foellinger, therefore, sought a bench in a little train building east of Clinton street, and there proceeded to take a nap. He awoke and rushed out in time to see his train disappearing over the track elevation "hump." Determined then to take the next train, No. 37, at 7:30, he lay down again, and was glad to find, when he awoke, that he had a plenty of time. The hour of 7:30 arrived, however, but the train didn't. He waited until 8:30 and asked the car inspector when No. 37 would get in.

"No. 37? Why, let me see," mused the inspector. "No. 37 will get in here at 7:30 Monday morning. It doesn't run on Sundays, you know."

Al crept home again.



Proceeded to take a nap.

"Yes, sir," said he, "and I'm going to Chicago next Sunday on No. 15 if I have to sleep on the track so the train can't leave without waking me up."

VACATION ROMP LAST OF SEASON

SPECIAL CAR RATES

The last special day for children at Robison park, known annually as the final "vacation romp," will be held tomorrow, and Manager C. H. Williams has prepared a program for the occasion that contains enough features to bring delight to the heart of each child in the city who enjoys the festivities of the occasion. In view of the fact that the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company has consented to establish a round trip fare of five cents for children during the day, it is expected that a monster crowd will gather a. the amusement resort.

Park employes under the direction of Mr. Williams will distribute 5,000 candy "suckers" and in the usual copper trail about the walks of the spacious groves 1,000 pennies will be scattered among the youngsters. In addition to this 100 baseballs will be tossed to the boys from the roof of the theater, and the trolley car and baby doll will be awarded. As a final number on the program there will be a balloon ascension and parachute drop.

Twenty-five gold neck chains will be given to girls who during the season wrote the twenty five best letters to Manager Williams, while ten gold sets of tie clasp, stick pin and cuff buttons will be given to the ten boys who submitted the best letters. The park's first beauty show will also be staged and the winners will be selected by ballot.

All crippled children using crutches have been especiall yinvited to the park tomorrow by Manager Williams. He wishes all crippled children to gather in the grove near the bandstand at 4:30 o'clock so that he may give each one a keepsake of the last "vacation romp."

NEWSIES PICNIC ONE DAY LATER

Boys Postpone Annual Outing at Park Until Next Friday

BECAUSE OF ROMP DAY

The annual picnic of Fort Wayne newsboys, which was to have been held tomorrow at Robison park, has been postponed one day, and will take place Friday instead, according to announcement made this morning by Charles A. Phelps, who acts as host to his little friends each year just before the opening of school. The outing is delayed on account of "romp day" tomorrow at the amusement resort. The boys have prepared a long and interesting program and it is feared that they would be unable to carry it out with so many "romp day" youngsters present. In other words, they desire to take charge of the park themselves, so have decided to delay the festivities for a day.

This will be the tenth annual picnic of the Fort Wayne newsies, and Mr. Phelps has included all sorts of features in the program, which will begin at 9 o'clock when they meet at the Arcade and later go to the transfer corner for the special car which will carry them to the park. They will be photographed as soon as they leave the car, and will then play baseball until noon, when a picnic dinner is to be served. In the afternoon they will enjoy the amusement devices at the park and engage in field sports, returning home about 6 o'clock.

BURSLEY CHILD IS DEAD.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bursley Had Just Returned from Abroad.

News of the death of Jerry Bursley, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Bursley, of Ann Arbor, Mich., has been received in this city, which was formerly the home of the parents. Mr. and Mrs. Bursley went abroad last June, taking their small son with them. They returned home only last Sunday and shortly after reaching Ann Arbor the infant became ill. This is the third similar bereavement suffered by the parents. The boy was not quite a year old.

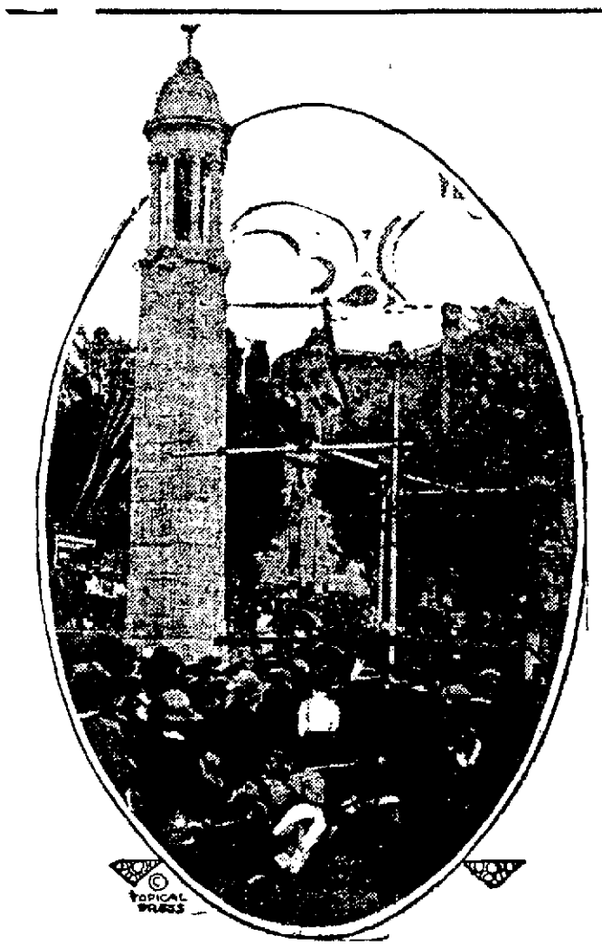
AT LAST ENGLAND HONORS THE PILGRIM FATHERS.



A lot of good folks who weren't wanted in England once got into a boat and sailed for America. And just the other day a crowd of Englishmen and Americans assembled on the very spot where they set sail for the New World and unveiled a monument to celebrate the event.

The world waited nearly three centuries for that monument, for the Pilgrims sailed from Southampton, England, in the year 1620. The place where it stands is doubly significant, for today all the great liners that sail to America begin and end their trips at Southampton.

Due to Misunderstanding.

The president emphatically praised the execution of his mission by Mr. Lind and said he was led to believe the Huerta government rejected the American proposals "because the authorities at Mexico City had been grossly misinformed and misled" upon the spirit of the American people in the matter and "upon a mistaken belief that the present administration did not speak for the people of the United States."

So long as such a misunderstanding continued, the president asserted that this nation "could only await the time of their awakening to a realization of the real facts."

"The situation," declared the president, "must be given a little more time to work itself out in the new circumstances."

He then outlined the position this government should take. Concluding his address the president predicted that the "steady pressure of moral force will before many days break the barriers of pride and prejudice down, and we shall triumph as Mexico's friends sooner than we could tdiumph as her enemies."

Gamboa Note Not Read.

Senor Gamboa's note, which was appended to the president's address as an exhibit, was not read by the president but was furnished to congress as a printed document.

Mrs. Wilson and her daughters and Secretary Bryan had taken places in the executive gallery. Other members of the cabinet had taken places on the floor. Every head in the chamber had been bowed and the solemnity of the occasion was impressive as the house chaplain, the Rev. Henry D. Couden, in his opening prayer said: "Rule Thou in the hearts of our rulers and sway the minds of Thy servants that as a nation we may move forward to all that is pure and noble until all the peoples of all the world shall recognize the purity of our motives."

Volley of Applause.

Although a deafening volley of applause rang out as the president appeared he plunged into the reading of his message without delay and without a bow of acknowledgment of the greeting.

The president finished reading at 1:21 o'clock. Another great roar of applause broke out. All those in the galleries stood while the president left the chamber and started back to the white house. The joint session at once dissolved, the house adjourned, and the senate filed back to its side of the capitol.

TEXT OF WILSON'S ADDRESS ON MEXICAN SITUATION

progress is being made towards the establishment of government at the City of Mexico which the country will obey and respect.

"'The government does not stand in the same case with the other great governments of the world in respect of what is happening or what is likely to happen in Mexico. We offer our good offices, not only because of our genuine desire to play the part of a friend, but also because we are expected by the powers of the world to act as Mexico's nearest friend.

In Spirit of Friendship.

"'We wish to act in these circumstances in the spirit of the most earnest and disinterested friendship. It is our purpose in whatever we do or propose in this perplexing and distressing situation not only to pay the most scrupulous regard to the sovereignty and independence of Mexico—that we take as a matter of course to which we are bound by every obligation of right and honor—but also to give every possible evidence that we act in the interests of Mexico alone, and not in the interest of any person or body of persons who may have personal or property claims in Mexico which they may feel that they have the right to press. We are seeking to counsel Mexico for her own good and in the interest of her own peace and not for any other purpose whatever. The government of the United States would deem itself discredited if it had any selfish or ulterior purpose in transactions where the peace, happiness and prosperity of a whole people are involved. It is acting as its friendship for Mexico not as any selfish interest, dictates.

"'The present situation in Mexico is incompatible with the fulfillment of international obligations on the part of Mexico, with the civilized development of Mexico herself, and with the maintenance of tolerable political and economic conditions in Central America. It is upon no common occasion, therefore, that the United States offers her counsel and assistance. All America cries out for a settlement.

Conditions of Settlement.

"'A satisfactory settlement seems to us to be conditioned on:

"'(a) An immediate cessation of fighting throughout Mexico, a definite armistice solemnly entered into and scrupulously observed;

"'(b) Security given for an early and free election in which all will agree to take part;

"'(c) The consent of Gen. Huerta to bind himself not to be a candidate for election of the republic this election and;

"'(d) The agreement of all parties to abide by the results of the election and co-operate in the most loyal way in organizing and supporting the new administration.

"'The government of the United States will be glad to play any part in this settlement or in its carrying out which it can play honorably and consistently with international right. It pledges itself to recognize and in every way possible and proper to assist the administration chosen and set up in Mexico in the way and on the conditions suggested.

"'Taking all the existing conditions into consideration the government of the United States can conceive of no reasons sufficient to justify those who are now attempting to shape the policy or exercise the authority of Mexico in refusing the offers of friendship thus offered. Can Mexico give the civilized world a satisfactory reason for rejecting our good offices? If Mexico can suggest any better way in which to show our friendship, to serve the people of Mexico and meet our international obligations we are more than willing to consider the suggestion.'

Praises Lind's Work.

"Mr. Lind executed his delicate and difficult mission with singular tact, firmness and good judgment, and made clear to the authorities at the City of Mexico not only the purpose of his visit, but also the spirit in which it had been undertaken. But the proposals he submitted were rejected, in a note the full text of which I take the liberty of laying before you.

"I am led to believe that they were rejected partly because the authorities at Mexico City had been grossly misinformed and misled upon two points. They did not realize the spirit of the American people in this matter, their earnest friendliness and yet sober determination that some just solution be found for the Mexican difficulties; and they did not believe that the present administration spoke, through Mr. Lind, for the people of the United States. The effect of this unfortunate misunderstanding on their part is to leave them singularly isolated and without friends who can effectually aid them. So long as the misunderstanding continues we can only await the time of their awakening to a realization of the actual facts. We cannot thrust our good offices upon them. The situation must be given a little more time to work itself out in the new circumstances, and I believe that only a little while will be necessary. For the circumstances are new. The relation of our friendship makes them new and will inevitably bring its own alterations in the whole aspect of affairs. The actual situation of the authorities at Mexico City will presently be revealed.

What is Our Duty?

"Meanwhile, what is it our duty to do? Clearly, everything that we do must be rooted in patience and done with calm and disinterested deliberation. Impatience on our part would be childish, and would be fraught with every risk of wrong and folly. We can afford to exercise the self-restraint of a really great nation which realizes its own strength and scorns to misuse it. It was our duty to offer our active assistance. It is now our duty to show what true neutrality will do to enable the people of Mexico to set their affairs in order again and wait for a further opportunity to offer our friendly counsels. The door is not closed against the resumption, either upon the initiative of Mexico or upon our own, of the effort to bring order out of the confusion by friendly co-operative action, should fortunate occasion offer.

"While we wait, the contest of the rival forces will undoubtedly, for a little while, be sharper than ever, just because it will be plain that an end must be made of the existing situation, and that very promptly, and with the increased activity of the contending factions will come, it is to be feared, increased danger to the non-combatants in Mexico, as well as those actually in the field of battle. The position of outsiders is always particularly trying and full of hazard where there is civil strife and a whole country is upset.

Urges Americans to Leave.

"We should earnestly urge all Americans to leave Mexico at once, and should assist them to get away in every way possible—not because we would mean to slacken in the least our efforts to safeguard their lives and their interests, but because it is imperative that they should take no unnecessary risks when it is physically possible for them to leave the country. We should let every one who assumes to exercise authority in any part of Mexico know in the most unequivocal way that we shall vigilantly watch the fortunes of those Americans who cannot get away, and shall hold those responsible for their sufferings and losses to a definite reckoning. That can be and will be made plain beyond possibility of misunderstanding.

"For the rest I deem it my duty to exercise the authority conferred upon me by the law of March 4, 1912, to see to it that neither side to the struggle now going on in Mexico receives any assistance from this side of the border. I shall follow the best practice of nations in the matter of neutrality by forbidding the exportation of arms or munitions of war of any kind from the United States to any part of the republic of Mexico—a policy suggested by several interesting precedents and certainly dictated by many manifestations of practical expediency. We cannot in the circumstances be the partisans of either party to the contest that now distracts Mexico, or constitute ourselves the virtual umpire between them.

Appreciates Moral Support.

"I am happy to say that several of the great governments of the world have given this government their generous moral support in urging upon the provisional authorities at the City of Mexico the acceptance of our proffered good offices in the spirit in which they were made. We have not acted in this matter under the ordinary principles of international obligation. All the world expects us in such circumstances to act as Mexico's nearest friend and intimate adviser. This is our immemorial relation towards her. There is nowhere any serious question that we have the moral right in the case or that we are acting in the interests of a fair settlement and of good government, not for the promotion of some selfish interets of our own. If further motive were necessary than our own good will towards a sister republic and our own deep concern to see peace and order prevail in Central America, this consent of mankind to what we are attempting, this attitude of the great nations of the world towards what we may attempt in dealing with this distressed people at our doors, should make us feel more solemnly bound to go to the utmost length of patience and forbearance in this plainful and anxious business.

"The steady pressure of moral force will before days break the barriers of pride and prejudice down, and we shall triumph as Mexico's friends sooner than we could triumph as her enemies—and how much more handsomely, with how much higher and finer satisfaction of conscience and of honor."

STOP CRITICISM OF FRATERNITIES

Action Toward Doing So Will Be Taken by the Beta Phi Sigma.

THE PRESIDENT TALKS

In addressing the opening business session of the national convention of the Beta Phi Sigma this morning at the Anthony hotel, President Frank Budd, of Muncie, stated that the purpose of the meeting in session here is primarily to transact fraternity business and take steps for the improvement of the organization. He declared that a movement is in progress toward enlarging the membership, and closed by stating that special efforts will be made to take action which will ultimately compel the public to cease its criticism of fraternities.

Mr. Budd also appointed each delegate as a committee of one, whose duty it will be to see that the "dry convention" motion is strictly enforced, and every member present was cautioned to watch for any brother showing initial signs of flying over a "heavy sea." The afternoon session is being devoted to the appointment of the various committees.

Thus far Indianapolis is the only city bidding for the next national convention, but there is great rivalry among the leaders for the presidential nomination, and among the candidates for the national office are Darl K. Ehnes, of Indianapolis, who has just completed a term as national treasurer; Edwin Butler, of Marion, ex-secretary and former vice president. T. J. Doyle, of Brazil, Ind., is a candidate for national secretary, and W. H. Schaufelberger, for national treasurer.

Joseph Gregoirie, of Indianapolis, one of the older members of the fraternity and a member of the national board of trustees, is to be one of the principal speakers at the annual banquet, to be staged Thursday evening.

First Session.

More than two hundred members of the fraternity had registered at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, and later joined in holding a stag smoker at the fraternity rooms of the local chapter in the White apartments. Attorney Harry G. Hogan was the principal speaker of the opening social session, and confined his remarks chiefly to the good which can be done by such an organization when the right principles are set forth. In part Mr. Hogan said:

"With the proper Christian spirit of the fraternity there is no doubt but that many members are benefited in more ways than one. The advantages of having a stopping place when in a strange city is one of the best assets for the brotherly feeling which is bound to exist. And as long as the fraternity rooms and houses are properly conducted there is no reason why an evil should spring forth. The fraternity should make it a motto inclusive rather than exclusive, which I believe the leading fraternities of the country are trying to do. The aid rendered fellow men should not be limited to the membership of the organization, but to all who may be benefited by means of social up-lift. We are living in a great age of progressive people and it is up to the fraternities to set standards which will reach the environment of such an age."

The Fort Wayne chapter's quartet, composed of Samuel Geake, Rodney Breidenstein, Marion Keiss and Arthur Loeffler, furnished the vocal music for the smoker and piano selections by different members, including many from out of the city, completed the evening's activities.

ALL-NIGHT SEARCH FUTILE.

Posse Gets No Trace of Man Who Attacked Missouri Girl.

Bethesda, Md., Aug. 27.—Empty-handed, Deputy Sheriff Whalen and a posse returned today after an all-night search for the strange man who attacked Miss Anna Bell, the pretty 17-year-old daughter of a prosperous farmer. He seized Miss Bell late yesterday while the girl was returning to her home along a lonely road. She fought the man, who was roughly dressed, and her struggles and cries for help eventually frightened him off. She is resting easily today, although still under the care of a physician.

The police of Washington and Baltimore were notified to be on the lookout for the man, as were the authorities of the surrounding counties. The arrest of the assailant is expected before night.

WATER SITUATION IS NOT ALARMING

Notice to Boil is More a Wise Precaution Than Real Necessity.

NEW SAMPLES SENT

The water situation in Fort Wayne is not alarming, but the health authorities advise people to boil it in order to be on the safe side. The sample in which the chemists at Indianapolis found colt was taken from a tap on Oneida street, in Lakeside, and may have been contaminated after being drawn. All other samples analyzed at the same time gave negative reterminations as to the colon bacillus.

Other samples were taken today from the same vicinity that the condemned sample was taken and the result of the examination at Indianapolis will be awaited with interest. Meanwhile it will be advisable to boil the water.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORING TOWNS

SHIPPING CATTLE TO WELLS COUNTY

Drouth in Other States Causes Hundreds of Stockers to Be Brought in to Be Fed for Market.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 27.—Hundreds of head of cattle are being shipped into Wells county for fattening purposes, to be sold later on the city markets, at a nice profit, if the calculations of the local buyers are realized.

The most of the cattle being shipped into Indiana are being bought in the sections of the country which have been suffering from lack of rain. Kentucky and Kansas particularly being visited for purchase of cattle to come to this section. The cattle raisers of those states are selling their stock because of shortage of feed, due to the dry weather.

Harry Studebaker has bought two carloads of stock on the Kansas City market and has the cattle now on pasture on his farm north of Bluffton.

Ernst and Fred Isch have made two trips to Kentucky to buy cattle. They had their first carload shipped here last week, and in turn sold some of that shipment to friends and neighbors, and they arrived home yesterday morning from Louisville, after having bought two more carloads of cattle on the Monday market. These two carloads are due to arrive here this afternoon or tomorrow, and will be taken to the Isch farms.

John Feichter is another farmer who has had cattle shipped here from the dry sections.

W. A. Lipkey and Charles Elmore left Monday evening for Lonisville, for the purpose of looking after the purchase of a couple of carloads of cattle.

The Isch brothers reported that there were more buyers on the market Monday than there were cattle to supply, possible 300 buyers being in Lonisville, after about 4,000 head of cattle. There also is a big demand for the western stock.

HAS SOWN HIS WHEAT.

Portland, Ind., Aug. 27.—Perry Snyder, living northeast of this city, is one of the first, if not the first, Jay county farmer to sow wheat this year. On last Friday he completed the sowing of twenty acres of wheat in corn land and yet has ten acres to sow. On August 23, seven years ago, he sowed his wheat and the yield averaged thirty-three bushels to the acre. Last year he harvested an average of thirty bushels an acre off of his first sowing of seed on September 13 and 14. While some people entertain the idea, he says, that good wheat crops cannot be had from early sowing, his past experience convinces him to the contrary.

FARMER BREAKS COLLAR BONE.

Huntington, Ind., Aug. 27.—Falling suddenly from the rear of a wagon, William Elick, farmer residing near the Huntington-Wells county line, sustained fractures of his collar bone. Although Mr. Elick will be detained from duties for some time the injuries are not considered serious. Mr. Elick was assisting in threshing at the home of a brother, John Elick, and was standing on the rear end of a wagon. The horses started suddenly, throwing the farmer from his position, alighting on his head and shoulders.

FLESH FORMING FOOD

When you buy a package of Samose, the great flesh-forming food, weigh yourself and see how much you gain in the first week's use. Meyer Bros. Co. will tell of many of their customers who a month or so ago were thin, pale and haggard, but who are now through the use of Samose, plump, strong and happy, with perfect health and attractive flesh. They have seen so many instances of the wonderful power of Samose to restore the weak and sick to strength and health, and to make good natural flesh that they give their personal guarantee with every package of Samose they sell to refund the money if it does not prove satisfactory.

Samose is a pure preparation, and can be used with absolute confidence by the most delicate. It gives remarkable results with children who are weak and run down and without appetite. It builds up the thin, pale, puny girl and woman to perfect plumpness and health. It is the only flesh-forming food of its kind and in addition, it strengthens every organ of the body, restoring strength and health to the whole system.—Adv. 27-29-2t.

WED 50 YEARS AGO AS CHILDREN.

Hartford City, Ind., Aug. 27.—One hundred and fifty neighbors helped Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Holdren, aged 68 and 64, respectively, to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Holdren are probably the youngest old couple in the state to celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary. She was 14 and the bridegroom 18 at the time of their marriage. They eloped to Michigan to overcome parental objection on account of the bride's tender years. They ran away twice, but the first time they were overtaken at Muncie by the girl's father.

DIES A MAIDEN AT 83.

Miss Mary Justice, Long Blind, Passes Away at Markle.

Markle, Ind., Aug. 27.—Miss Mary Justice, 83, residing in Markle for many years and blind for a larger portion of her residence here, is dead at the home of two brothers in this place. The demise was caused by a complication of diseases. Miss Justice had lived in Huntington county for a number of years, having lived at Warren before removing to Markle.

For a large part of the past ten years Miss Justice had not been able to discern objects and suffered from rheumatism and other chronic diseases. The deceased was well known in Markle and vicinity, being of exceedingly cheerful disposition despite her many afflictions.

Removing from Warren to Markle about five years ago Miss Justice had been in the care of two brothers, Elias and John Justice. Deceased was a member of the M. E. church.

GRIEF CAUSES COLLAPSE.

Brother of Lad Drowned at Portland Found Unconscious on Street.

Portland, Ind., Aug. 27.—Earl Osenbaugh, brother of Chester Osenbaugh, who was drowned in the Bergman gravel pit, was found on the streets near his home in an unconscious condition. He had refused to retire at night and loss of sleep, coupled with worry over his brother's untimely end, caused him to suffer a nervous breakdown. It was several hours before he regained consciousness after he was discovered by neighbors lying beneath a shade tree, where he had fallen as he was en route home.

The funeral of Chester Osenbaugh was conducted at 12 o'clock noon today from the Walnut Street church of Christ, H. H. Webb in charge, and also under the auspices of class No. 9 of the Sunday school, with which he took an active part.

BOOTLEGGER IS FINED.

Decatur, Ind., Aug. 27.—The third bootlegger to feel the vengeance of the law recently is Oliver Everett, who entered a plea of guilty to the charges against him and was given a fine of $50 and costs, amounting in all to $60. Everett paid $11 on the amount and his father secured the remainder for him. Everett was arrested on an affidavit made by Policeman Milchi several days ago. Everett had conducted his operations in the vicinity of the once famous "bull pen," where he bought liquor in wholesale quantities and peddled it out to the loafers who congregated about the place in great numbers. For several days, it is said, he did a rushing business.

HUNTINGTON PIONEER DIES.

Huntington, Ind., Aug. 27.—Mrs. Matilda Stonogle, aged 66 and resident in Huntington county since early childhood, is dead at the home of her sister, Miss Lillian Lichtenwalter, one-half mile west of Luther, on the Wells-Whitley county line. She had been an invalid many years. She was born in Starke county, Ohio, and came as a young girl with her parents to Indiana, where she ever since has resided. One son and a number of brothers and sisters survive her. The son is Dr. Joshua Stonogle, of Athens, Ore., and the brothers and sisters are James Lichtenwalter, of Gordon Springs, Ga.; Lincoln Lichtenwalter, of Rochester, Ind., and Mrs. Carl Henry, of Chicago, and Miss Lillian Lichtenwalter, of Huntington county.

AUTO PARTY IS DUMPED.

Auburn, Ind., Aug. 27.—Walter McDaniel, the owner of an Auburn automobile only a few weeks, lies in bed at his home in Garrett nursing five broken ribs as a result of a flipflop en route home from St. Joe, whither he had gone with a party of young friends. Two of his companions, Messrs. Penland and Smith, are shaking hands with themselves over their escape. They too are pretty badly used up.

The young men were coming along the highway west of St. Joe at an alarming rate, so Penland says, when a turn in the road showed up on short notice and McDaniel lost control of his machine when it hit a rut and a tire bursted. It turned over but the occupants escaped being pinned under it.

THIRD ATTEMPT FAILS.

Columbia City, Ind., Aug. 27.—Mrs. Reuben Wallace, aged 40 years, the mother of seven children, the family residing in the east end of the city known as Spooktown, tried to end her earthly and family trouble with a dose of corrosive sublimate tablets. Dr. C. L. Souder, who was called, promptly made use of the stomach pump, and removed enough stuff to save her life. It is alleged that she has tried twice before to end her life, on account of family troubles, once with carbolic acid, and the second time with paris green. She admitted after she had returned to life again that she was sorry that she had made the attempt.

RETURNED TO ASYLUM.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 27.—Carl Thacker, of northeast of Etna Green, who has kept the neighbors in constant worry for several weeks, was taken to the Longcliff asylum at Logansport by Sheriff Charles A. Kintzel and Officer Earl Beebe. Thacker was violent and was handcuffed by the officers, who had no little trouble in getting the cuffs on him. Thacker, who is about 30 years of age, formerly resided in Marshall county and was sent from there to the Longcliff asylum at Logansport. Three times he escaped and twice he was captured and taken back.

LIBERTY MILLS HAS FIRE.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 27.—The little town of Liberty Mills, which is located in Wabash county, about three miles east of North Manchester, was nearly swept out of existence by a fire Tuesday. The loss is estimated at between $15,000 and $20,000. Seven business buildings, covering about a block of territory in the business section of the town, were entirely destroyed. The burned section constituted the biggest part of the business district. Liberty Mills is a town of about 300 inhabitants and the loss is a great blow to business interests of the village.

PREPARING TO DREDGE RIVER.

Decatur, Ind., Aug. 27.—Attorney S. A. D. Whipple, of Portland, has been in Decatur for the last two days, busily going over records in the auditor's office, preparatory to filing a petition for the dredging of the Wabash river from the Ohio state line to some point in the west part of Adams county. Preliminary work has been going on for some time, but as the drainage proposition is a big one, the work is necessarily a task that requires time for its completion. Just when the petition will be filed is not known, but it is probable that the matter will be put into court at as early a date as possible.

TIGER KEEPER PUNISHED.

Huntington, Ind., Aug. 27.—Arrested for operating a blind tiger after a raid had been made upon the Koh-i-Nor pool room, of which he is proprietor, Arba Goshorn pleaded guilty to two different charges in police court and was fined $100. The charges were for selling liquor without a license and the other for selling liquor on Sunday. A fine of $60 was assessed against him on the first charge and a fine of $40 on the second. The whole transaction, including the raid, his arrest and the trial, was completed in less than an hour.

BABE DRINKS GASOLINE.

Decatur, Ind., Aug. 27.—The 2-year-old child of Mr and Mrs. Homer Gause, of Mercer avenue, drank a quantity of gasoline and for a time excitement ran high in the home and vicinity. A physician was hastily called, who went to the home and treated the injury caused by the accident. The child, however, was not seriously hurt, its injuries consisting of a burned mouth and throat. One of the worst features of the injury was the strangling the fluid caused. The child found the gasoline in a beer bottle, and its curiosity was aroused to taste the fluid. Just how much it swallowed is not known.

No man is Stronger Than his Stomach

The Medical Adviser by R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. answers hosts of delicate questions about which every man or woman, single or married ought to know. Sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay for wrapping and mailing.

LET the greatest athlete have dyspepsia and his strength will soon fail. One's stamina—forcefullness and strength of mind or muscle depend upon the blood, and the blood in turn, requires a healthy stomach, for the stomach is the laboratory where the food is digested and such elements are taken up—or assimilated—which make blood. In consequence all the organs of the body, such as heart, lungs, liver and kidneys, as well as the nervous system, feel the bad effect if the stomach is deranged.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

helps the stomach to digest food properly, starts the liver into new activity, removing the poisons from the blood, and the various organs get rich, red blood, instead of being illy nourished. The refreshing influence of this extract of native medicinal plants has been favorably known for over 40 years. Everywhere some neighbor can tell you of the good it has done.

Sold by all medicine dealers in liquid or tablet form; or send 50 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, and a trial box will be mailed you.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Luke 24: 1-12.

1 Now upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unto the sepulchre, bringing the spices which they had prepared, and certain others with them.

2 And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre.

3 And they entered in, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus.

4 And it came to pass, as they were much perplexed thereabout, behold, two men stood by them in shining garments:

5 And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said unto them, Why seek ye the living among the dead?

6 He is not here, but is risen; remember how he spake unto you when he was yet in Galilee,

7 Saying, The Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.

8 And they remembered his words.

9 And returned from the sepulchre, and told all these things unto the eleven, and to all the rest.

10 It was Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women that were with them, which told these things unto the apostles.

11 And their words seemed to them as idle tales, and they believed them not.

12 Then arose Peter and ran unto the sepulchre; and stooping down he beheld the linen clothes laid by themselves, and departed, wondering in himself at that which was come to pass.

Aiding Indiana Crop Movement

Announcement is made from Washington that Secretary McAdoo, of the Treasury department, has allotted to Indiana $1,050,000 of the fifty millions of government money which he proposes making available for the temporary needs of the public in aiding the annual movement of crops. This fund will be distributed among banks in Indianapolis, Fort Wayne and Evansville, and by these institutions disbursed into the smaller centers of business so that it will be possible for every section of the state to take advantage of an entirely new avenue of usefulness that Uncle Sam has discovered. The precise sum which each city is to receive is not yet made known, but in all probability the division will be made upon the basis of general volume of business of the three largest Indiana cities. The plan is so unique that the attention it has attracted is perfectly natural, and its working out will be watched with uncommon interest. The movement of crops necessarily requires that a vast sum of money be available to the people for the few weeks in which the major portion of the work is under way. It has been the custom for many years to depend upon eastern financial centers for crop-moving funds, and Wall street is in no sense in business for its health. When one considers that the government can with perfect safety and with no inconvenience to itself perform this new service to the people, the wonder is that the plan was not inaugurated years ago. It is a notable step in putting the national government closer to the people.

Mr. Buck and his associates upon the non-partisan ticket in Fort Wayne are before the people upon the square-toed and definite pledge to banish peanut politics from Fort Wayne's governmental affairs and put the administration of city affairs upon a basis of real efficiency. They were not candidates for the nominations. They did not and do not seek office for personal profit or for the perpetuation of a political machine. They realize that in all human probability they will be viciously assailed and unjustly accused by the partisan element in its last ditch fight to perpetuate partisan rule in Fort Wayne. But they will go forward undauntedly in a lofty civic purpose that is worth the sacrifice, for they know the people are with them.

If Councilman Bauer is really in possession of information warranting charges against the police department or any other section of the city government, he owes it to the people whom he was chosen to represent to not only make it public, but to be specific about it. It is entirely possible, of course, that as he says, his remarks have been misconstrued and that he did not mean to infer the presence of dishonesty or graft. As a member of the city council his right to offer legitimate criticism of officials and departments is unquestioned, but veiled hints and glittering generalities will neither demonstrate sincerity nor clear up the situation. Mr. Bauer ought to speak plainly if he has anything to offer.

With all the hub-bub a short while ago regarding Mr. Bryan's lecture platform engagements, it is worth whole noting that the secretary of state is sticking to his post while there is likelihood of important questions arising. Mr. Bryan's course is a most conclusive answer to his critics.

THE ART OF LIVING.

(Outlook.)

Many people never learn the art of living because they never see the relative importance of duties, opportunities and interests, and never discriminate between the things on which they ought to throw the full weight of their energy and those which they ought to touch lightly in passing.

The results of seeing things out of perspective and of losing the sense of relative values are not always tragic, but they are always wasteful of time and strength, and they destroy the symmetry of living. At a time when many interests appeal to men or women it is easy to dissipate one's vitality and waste one's influence. It is so easy to know nothing thoroughly. They become eclectics in religion and their spiritual energy evaporates in a vague interest in the gossip, so to speak, of half a dozen faiths; they read the text books of all the arts, and end by losing whatever capacity for pleasure in beauty they had when they became "globe trotters" in the galleries, museums and studios; they hear lectures on philosophy, and get a smattering of the dialect of thought without learning how to think; they join a hundred charities, and never give themselves; they are eager for all the reforms, but have no time to give real support to any of them. They accept everything that comes their way; they reject nothing; and life in their hands takes on neither unity nor beauty. They respond to every call, and no sooner start in one direction than they are diverted into another path and never reach the end of any road.

MODERN ADAM, NAKED AND EMPTY-HANDED, LIVES IN WILDERNESS

HIS FIRST MEAT MEAL WAS FROG'S LEGS

JOSEPH KNOWLES, THE 1913 ADAM.

Spencer, Me., Aug. 26. Back in the timber of the big game country bordering on Spencer Lake a Boston artist is engaged in the most daring back-to-nature experiment ever attempted since man rose from savagery.

Joseph Knowles, painter of wild life, entered the big, trackless forest absolutely naked, with not a morsel of food and not a single implement of civilized life, to prove that he can win against the wilderness.

He will live alone in the forest two months.

"Can he do it?" his friends ask. "Can any man do it?"

Nearly all of them declare that, however sturdy a civilized man may be, or however well he may know the woods, we have all so far lost our primitive instincts and natural endurance that none of us can cope with cold and hunger and the beasts of the forest as our remote ancestors did.

Knowles, however, has not fear. Before he stripped in the presence of eleven witnesses and entered the woods, this modern Adam was examined by Dr. Dudley A. Sargent, of Harvard university, who declared that a man of his physique could stand the test if any one could. And he is an expert woodsman, well acquainted with the topography and the wild life of the region.

He lived for several days on the sort of food easiest to obtain, gathering blueberries, blackberries, raspberries, wild cherries, artichokes and wild onions. Meanwhile he was building himself a rude lodge and making fishing and hunting devices.

His first meat was frogs' legs. He killed the frogs with a club. Then he captured spruce partridges and later ducks and wild geese.

Having no fish hooks, or steel to make them, he manufactured a net of the fiber of the inner bark of trees and, placing it at the outlet of a pool, he would catch trout, perch, pickerel and eels, driving them into it by wading through the pool.

He also caught fish with a spear made of wood and bone.

For trapping game he uses a deadfall made of two fallen logs, bound with withes at one end and set in a runway. The upper log is weighted with stones and one end is held up by a stick. Animals, passing through, brush away the support and the log falls on them.

He uses for clothing matting of woven rushes and the skins of bear, deer, rabbits, coons, squirrels and wildcats, and preserves most of the meat by drying it in the air in thin strips or smoking it over a bed of coals smothered with leaves and brush.

He lights his fires by friction. He made an Indian bow, stringing it with a strip of tough bark fiber, looping the bow string around a dry pine stick, inserting one end of the stick in a piece of dry punk, and drawing the bow-string back and forth, rotating the stick so fast that the punk will ignite. Then he makes flame with dry leaves by blowing on the punk.

Knowles is left absolutely alone. Twice a week he comes out to a trail and leaves a message.

When the two months are up he will emerge, he says, "sufficiently clothed to walk the city streets and as comfortably clothed as any human being." He will go immediately before medical experts for a physical examination.

Aside from the scientific test he is making, Knowles is interested in gathering further material for his sketches of life in the wild. He expects to paint some pictures on bark while in the woods, using the colored juices of fruits and herbs, and making brushes of feathers and fur.

PRESS DISCUSSES TARIFF LEGISLATION.

"As Predicted."

Washington Star: "On the first test in the senate free sugar won. Another test is promised, but the expectations is that free sugar will win that also. The vote stood as had been predicted."

"One Persistent Trouble."

Boston Herald: "One persistent trouble with our tariff measures, which have resulted in turning out of power nearly every party that has been respectively responsible for their enactment, has been the tremendous delay that has attended their coming into being."

"Ought to Be Decisive."

New York Post: "Approval by the senate yesterday of the free sugar schedule by the vote of 39 to 34 ought to be decisive of a larger issue than this most mooted point of the tariff discussion."

"Bad for Country."

Detroit Free Press: "The obdurate determination of opposition senators to prolong the tariff debate indefinitely may be regarded by them as good political tactics, but it is bad for the country generally."

"Some Compensation."

Boston Globe: "Trying as is the senate's delay of the tariff bill, the people get some compensation in the shape of amendments that extend the free list of food products."

"All But Accomplished."

Washington Herald: "Free sugar and free wool are all but accomplished facts. The democrats to whom the republicans looked for assistance in defeating these changes in our tariff policy have declared their regularity."

"Eliminates Doubt."

Philadelphia Ledger: "Although it has long been apparent that the passage of the tariff bill in practically the form demanded by the administration was assured, the senate's decision in favor of free sugar eliminates whatever doubt may have existed."

INSULTING THE FLAG.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

A man who, speaking at a Columbus, Ohio, street corner, declared to a crowd that "the American flag has more yellow streaks than any other kind and we ought to go up there and tear it down from the state house," has been fined $100 and sent to the workhouse for thirty days by a magistrate who regretted that the offense had not been made a felony.

Instances of insulting references to the flag have been too frequently reported in the past few years as incident to certain agitations. They have usually provoked riotous resentment. The utter folly of attempting to further a propaganda in this country by bringing the flag into contempt ought, it might be supposed, to be patent to anyone. In no land is the national flag held in deeper popular veneration, because nowhere else does it so directly represent the whole nation and stand for such sacrifices for the national ideal. An insult directed at "Old Glory" is aimed just as surely at the government it represents and the nation that has chosen that government. The man who urges the tearing down of the flag urges the destruction of our government. A workhouse sentence and a fine, the maximum penalty under Ohio law, is, as the committing magistrate said, lamentably inadequate. National sentiment will support a much more drastic means of dealing with such offenses.

Highest Beauty Lies Within

The Beauty Show Contest will be very close as each little miss is very sweet and very winsome. It will be difficult for you to decide whom you shall vote for. Beauty of heart shines forth in the countenance and the face grows beautiful by thinking kind thoughts.

Did you ever hear the story of the diamond and the clay? Well, one day, a diamond fell from the finger of a very proud and very haughty lady. It rolled into the gutter and laid beside a piece of common clay. The diamond was very glad and very contented there because it soon became conscious of a sweet, new influence. "What makes you so sweet?" it finally asked the clay. "Oh," replied the clay, "I passed an hour in the presence of a red rose."

When you vote in the Beauty Contest on Romp Day try to make up your mind which one of the lassies is the sweetest natured at home. Which one is the kindest to her parents and to her brothers and sisters. Which one is the most thoughtful of the aged and the most patient and tender toward babies. Which one, like the red rose, causes you to sense most the fragrance of her heart. You will recognize it in them all and that is the reason Mr. Williams asked them to be in his Beauty Contest. There really is no choice as each one is equally dear.—Adv.

INCURABLE DISEASES

So-Called; Now Cured.

LATE DISCOVERIES IN MEDICINE.

The United Specialists following along lines of research work are having wonderful success at their Fort Wayne institution, located at 124 East Washington boulevard.

Many so-called incurable cases have been cured by them, and scores of so-called surgical cases have been fortunate enough to escape the surgeon's knife by taking treatment from the master specialists. Their work is undoubtedly a great boon to the afflicted. These specialists examine any person who is in earnest free of charge.

Of course it is hardly necessary to call attention of the readers of these columns to the many letters voluntarily published in this paper by many of their patients. Perhaps the most gratifying part of their indorsement comes from the many men who have been treated for years by other physicians and specialists without results. A number of these cases have been entirely cured within from one to three weeks. All this simply proves that the cure of chronic diseases depends on the ability to properly diagnose any condition and knowing what to do for the case after it has been properly diagnosed.

Since these specialists are establishing permanent institutions here, they are depending on the reputation gained by cured patients to maintain their wonderful practice. Perhaps no institution has gained such a wonderful reputation for cures in so short a time as have the United Specialists. The truly wonderful part of this is that they make no wonderful pretenses themselves in the newspaper, but the great bulk of their business has been referred to them or has come from the many published letters from people who have been treated by them.

The United Specialists have kept themselves abreast of every advance in medical science and have proven to many people of Fort Wayne that many so-called surgical diseases can be cured through the scientific administration of medicine. Of course, the successful treatment of disease must depend on a thorough understanding of any case and an absolute diagnosis of the conditions. These specialists through years of experience and their wonderful mechanical equipment can diagnose correctly nearly every doubtful and deep-seated condition.

The United Specialists have received numbers of testimonials from the citizens of Fort Wayne and vicinity.

Many men who had formerly been treated for years have asked the United Specialists to refer other men to them. They treat all chronic and nervous diseases, including goitre, rheumatism, all stomach and intestinal troubles, rectal diseases, epilepsy and all special diseases of men and women.

Their offices are located at 124 East Washington boulevard. They will examine the afflicted free of charge. They accept no incurable cases. Their hours are from 9-12, 1-5, 7-8 and 9-12 Sunday. —Adv.

BIRTHPLACE OF DANIEL WEBSTER

Quaint Old Farmhouse Has Been Restored and Date to Be Celebrated.

WILSON MAY SPEAK

Franklin, N. H., Aug. 27.—The ancient New Hampshire farm house in which Daniel Webster was born has been reset on its old foundations and restored to look as it did in the eighteenth century when Webster was a small boy, and preparations have been made to celebrate its rehabilitation. It is located in the town of Franklin, and the celebration will take place August 28.

It is expected that President Wilson will attend and deliver an address. Samuel W. McCall, former congressman from Massachusetts, who was the principal speaker at the hundredth anniversary of Webster's graduation from Dartmouth college, will speak. Governor Felker, of New Hampshire, and governors of other states will attend. There will be an address by a representative of Dartmouth.

When a group of New Hampshire citizens formed the Daniel Webster Birthplace association, the legisalture appropriated $1,500 for the work. Other funds were derived from membership fees and donations. The association purchased the old Webster farm of 130 acres for about $1,800. Only a part of the old house was there, and it had been moved from the original foundations. Nobody seemed to remember just where it had stood, but careful search discovered the stones on which it had rested before. The cellar had been filled in, but on being excavated the plan of the original house stood revealed.

There were also some sketches that Webster himself had which showed how the old home had looked. Wherever possible the original material was used. Some clapboards from the old barn, nearly as venerable as the old house itself, were utilized. In the few cases where new material had to be used wood stains gave it the appearance of age. The restoration of the old fireplace was simplified by the discovery of a pile of chimney bricks in a corner of the cellar—the identical bricks that had formed the old chimney. They were all numbered, as was the custom of those days.

The fireplace is in the combination kitchen and dining room and living room and is one of the two principal rooms of the house. Among the chimney brick were found many other old domestic articles buried, among them the staves and the bottom of the bucket which originally hung in the well. This well, too, has been restored, with its old-fashioned sweep.

The birthplace association expects to place and have the double duty of working the farm and guarding the old cabin against curio hunters.

The site is three miles from the center of Franklin, has no immediate neighbors, and is practically isolated. It is said that when Daniel Webster was born, in 1782, this clearing and house stood further north than any other in New Hampshire.

The association will try to raise an endowment of $20,000 to provide for the perpetual care of the old farm. Its officers are: President, William E. Chandler, of Concord; vice presidents, Chief Justice Frank N. Parsons, of Franklin; Clarence E. Carr, of Andover; F. G. Webster, of Boston; Treasurer, Dr. John W. Staples, of Franklin; Clerk, Omar A. Towne, of Franklin; trustees, A. W. Sulloway, Jacob H. Gallinger, Edward G. Leach, Prof. J. R. Eastman, Augustine R. Ayres, Frank R. Woodward, Warren F. Daniel, Frank Proctor and Charles S. Collins.

THE TIMERS AND JUDGES CHOSEN

Will Keep Tab on Light Harness Races at Fort Wayne Fair.

STATE SHOW COMING

The timers and judges for the three-day light harness meet that will feature the coming fair have been selected. C. H. Biederwolf and James O'Ryan will assist Starter W. L. Talbot in handling the field as they score and watching the drivers to prevent their taking unfair advantage of one another. A. J. Compton and John J. O'Ryan, both prominently known local horsemen will "clock the races." These two timers have been handling the split second watches at local horse meets for years and a year ago set something in the nature of a new record for consistency in timing. They went the entire week, timing every race without their watches varying a quarter of a second from one another throughout the time. Timing horses even with the modern watch is a delicate job and Fort Wayne is fortunate in having a pair of men as accurate as Compton and O'Ryan to handle the time pieces, as their preachee in the stand insures that the times that are hung up are accurate.

Speed Superintendent Martin has arranged for the twin amateur races to settle once and for all the mooted question of supremacy among the local horse owners. About the most interesting brush of these amateurs will be the race between Mike Laughlin's Nellie K., the mare that copped all the money at the Pennsylvania field day, and John O'Ryan's horse. Each claims his animal can beat the other.

C. H. Baldwin, the state etomologist has promised the management of the fair that he will send the state's exhibit of insects and plant diseases to Fort Wayne. A corps of competent deputies will be in charge of this exhibit and will answer all questions put to them by people interested in tree culture as to the best methods of preventing tree destruction by bugs or the several plant diseases trees are heir to. The state arranged the exhibit and it will be shown for the first time at the state fair at Indianapolis, shipping directly from the capital into Fort Wayne. A space has been reserved for the show near the art hall, as there will not be room enough for it in the horticulture buildings.

PROTEST MEETING AT BURGLARS' REST; PEEVED YEGGS SCORE LADY COPS.

By GENE MORGAN.

It was a sad night at the Burglars' Rest.

Gloom descended heavily over the usually cheerful reading room of the yeggmen's select social club.

Elias Jimmy Valentine, star cracksman, and Young Bill Sikes were playing their nightly game of checkers. They wept until the checker board was as slippery as a skating rink.

Phinney the Eel was reading the poems of Longfellow aloud to Pete the Gunman, but the latter was so depressed he allowed his hot chocolate to get cold. Dynamite Louie, Gaspipe Hogan and Bertie the Nut, were exchanging desperate glances and even chewing gum with reckles abandon.

"I fear our course of unbridled lawlessness has been run, boys," said Bertie the Nut with a sigh. "We cannot aspire to cope with the newly appointed feminine minions of constitutional justice."

"Was you referring to them women cops?" growled Dynamite Louie. "Say it's gettin' harder every day for a gink to earn a honest livin'."

"You're the wise-crackin' kid, Louie," commended Gaspipe Hogan. "After we've spent many weary months readin' the amateur cracksman stories in the magazines, and finally learn how to fool the sleuths, along comes the mayor of Chicago and a lot of other mayors around the country and puts Janes in copper barness."

Elias J. Valentine swept away a dish full of checkers with an impatient air.

"You boobs gimme the hook worm," he said, disgustedly. "I admit it looks bad, but then you should try and pipe the silver braiding on every cloud. Suppose the women, instead of rushing into brass and blue and crowding the coppers out of their jobs, decided to be boiglers. Say, they'd starve us out o' our profession in six weeks."

"By what manner of competition would they secure our industrial elimination?" inquired Bertie the Nut.

"Easy," declared E. J. Valentine. "While we was toiling all night trying to crack a safe with nitroglycerine and a hot drill a dame would be inside the bin and have her claws on the dough inside ten minutes. I tell youse them wimmin are wonders wit' their hatpins."

Young Bill Sikes shuddered involuntarily at the mention of hatpins. As if with painful recollections he rubbed a sore spot on his left shoulder.

"You don't mean to say them lady bulls is goin' to have lid spikes?" he cried.

"Nah, not even a handbag wit' a brick in it," asserted Phinney the Eel. "One of these Chicago copperines is goin' to land her prisoners by hypnotism. She says all she has to do is to look a guy in the lamps. He comes toddlin' along with a glassy look an' don't wake up till he feels the cold bars against his back in the house gow."

"Yeah, and another peelerette uses the joo jitsoo system," added Gaspipe Hogan. "She pinches a thug on the wrist and the next minute he's doin' a flip-flop in the ozone."

"I'd hate to forget to tip my hat to any of 'em," said Phinney the Eel. "Two of 'em's expert shots and can hit a freckle on a chinch-bug at eighteen paces. And there's another lady what's goin' to walk beat in the lankin' house district what hoists a 250-pound dumb bell every mornin' just to get up an appetite for grape fruit and cocoa."

"I am evolving a scheme whereby members of our profession may circumvent the anger of these official Amazons," said Bertie the Nut. "I shall inaugurate a course in etiquette and cultured politeness. Thus shall we combat womanly belligerency by suave elegance, and appeal to that element of vanity which sways every feminine heart."

"Take 'im out an' lay the boob under the pump," commanded Young Bill Sikes, as he looked down at the limp form of Bertie the Nut and removed his brass knuckles.

Swinehart Family Reunion.

The eighth annual reunion of the Swinehart family will be held next Sunday in Swinney park. These reunions are always largely attended and many from away are expected this time.

FOUR GENERATIONS OF THE JOLLY FAMILY

A "sample" of a big family, was the manner in which the seventeen representatives of the descendants of Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Jolly spoke of themselves on Monday when they met in Robison park for a picnic dinner. Four generations were represented beginning of course with Mrs. Jolly, who is but seventy-nine years young and were it not for failing eyesight she could take her place with a man or woman ten years her junior. Of the ten children born to Mrs. Jolly, six are now living, and of them there were present on Monday Mrs. Alice D. Vail with whom Mrs. Jolly lives at 1551 East Creighton avenue; Mrs. W. T. Loring and Mrs. Mead Gindlesparger, all of this city, and Rev. J. M. Jolly, of South Bend. Two sons sons could not be present, one who lives in Texas and another living in South Dakota.

The grandchildren present were Mrs. E. M. Osborn, Mrs. Belle Loring Howard, Milford Vail, Forrest Vail, Ruth Wade and Alice Loring, Elizabeth, Glen and Allerton Gindlesparger and Velma Jolly. The great-grandchildren are Russell, Kathryn, Marjorie and Ruth Osborn, Dorothy Howard, all of Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Jolly is a native of Ohio. Her maiden name was McCulloch. Marrying in early girlhood she came with her husband to settle on a farm in Starke county, Indiana, and there she lived until the death of her husband in 1892. A devout Methodist of the old fashioned kind, a good woman and a fairly vigorous one Mrs. Jolly will not mind living another decade if her eyesight will continue good enough for her to read a little and get about alone. An interesting feature of the four generations represented in the picture is that all are daughters, the oldest child in each family being a girl.

AT THE TEMPLE

Tonight's last two performances will be the last chance the Temple patrons will have to see the big comedy bill which closes a most successful four days' engagement, but tomorrow matinee brings forth another grand array of stars for the last three days of the week, headed by Homer Lind, who for many years has been identified and won many triumphs with Henry W. Savage's English Grand Opera companies of New York, has entered vaudeville for a limited tour in a one act musical playlet, "The Opera Singer," which was written by Gustave Weinberg and which is described as a one act classic. To tell the story would be to destroy much of the patron's enjoyment; suffice to say, it is full of comedy, melody and strong character acting. Aside from the big headline attraction are other worthy acts, such as only played by the Keith and Orpeum affiliations. The Mitchell Girls are harmony singers and comediennes. Kelcey Conboy and his clever company of comedians will present one of the biggest laugh producers in vaudeville, entitled "The Claim Agent." The Romero Family of five are European musicians and dancers in a big novelty. Princton and Yale will offer their latest singing and talking success, "600 Miles from New York." The Temple first run photo plays and the celebrated Temple orchestra in new musical numbers, completes the excellent bill opening tomorrow afternoon for the three days of this week.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"The Light Eternal" Saturday With Louise Dunbar and John Milton in Cast.

Book readers familiar with the fascinating story of Christian martyrdom told in the late Cardinal Wiseman's historical novel, "Fabiola," will be given another opportunity of seeing a dramatization of that work—"The Light Eternal"—at the Majestic theater on Saturday, Aug. 30, when the twentieth performance of the powerful drama will be given. The subject matter of the great prelate's famous book has been handled in a manner to create a play thoroughly delightful to regular theater-goers, while the more devout religionists proclaim it superior to all former offerings of the kind. To the poetic beauty of the writing has been added exceptional skill in stagecraft—resultant in a fervent poetic drama bordering on the thrills of melodrama. The scenic investure and costuming is above reproach and the acting company is unusually strong. The principal roles are again played by Louise Dunbar and John Milton, both of whom are conceded a place among the foremost readers of the classic drama on the present day stage.

AT THE EMPRESS

"Huerta will capitulate," said Manuel Ballo, a former citizen of Mexico now appearing with his brother at the Empress theater in a delightful musical act. The Ballo boys are the sons of a former wealthy mine owner of Jaurez and they spent a greater part of their life in Old Mexico. They are naturally interested spectators in the present trouble the country is into, but nothing more.

"It is shameful that beautiful Mexico should be revolution riddled and that the people should be so simple as to give their lives and property merely to satisfy the ambition of some adventurer like Huerta. Under the regime of Madero, Mexico was bidding fair to enjoy a period of peace and prosperity. He was overthrown and murdered and the position of the government in not recognizing his murderer as president is to be commended.

"As I stated at first, Huerta will bluff until the Washington government calls him, then he will give in. No man who has won his position as has Huerta has the red blood of a fighting man. He is a craven coward as his moves during the next few days will show. I am not questioning that his cowardice is not wise and timely, for he, as every other person, learned that it don't pay to fool with Uncle Sam.

"I love Mexico, but the internal strife, the intrigue, the spying and the lawlessness of the past year make it anything but the romantic old land it once was."

Tomorrow afternoon at the Empress the first of the silver spoons will be given. There will be one for every woman attending the matinee. There will be a big amateur show on Friday night following the regular performances and on Saturday two matinees will be given, one at 2 o'clock and the other at 3:30.

TO REMOVE SULPHUR.

When matches are scratched upon light paint or woodwork, they leave an unsightly mark. This may be removed by rubbing the stain with a cut lemon.

AT THE JEFFERSON

The Jefferson is offering a nicely balanced program tonight consisting of high power dramatic, comedy and a scenic, with a quartet, giving a nice thirty minute entertainment. The scenic shows the beautiful parks of Stockholm, Sweden, as they really are. This is another demonstration of the motion picture bringing the world to your door, for no description of words spoken or written could give one as clear a picture as does the "movie." On the same reel is a good comedy entitled "Everybody's Wearing Them." The dramatic is from the Victor studio entitled "The Ghost." It is the familiar "haunted house" story, in a pleasing setting. Gertrude Robinson and James Kirkwood are the lovers. The latter makes a bet that he is not afraid to stay in the haunted dwelling over night. Of course, he discovers a den of thieves infesting the place, and there follows an exciting capture of the gang. A brisk, stirring story.

Thursday comes the greatest of them all, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," in three reels. When "Uncle Tom" comes to town it is a regular holiday for the kiddies as well as the grown ups and all roads and byways lead to the Jefferson Thursday.

FOR SUMMER ROMANCING SOMEONE MUST PAY THE PIPER.

(By Winnie Lee.)

Man takes his flirting lightly, and woman takes her tragically, but both of them must pay the piper equally!

And though they are exchanging a cheap commodity, they must pay in the good coin of true love.

What is love's medium of exchange?

"Kisses," murmurs seventeen. "Work," says the wife. "Tears," sobs the widow. And "regret" sighs the flirt, man or woman. But all these are only the copper, nickel, paper and silver currency in the kingdom of love.

The standard of value, the golden coin of love, is the opinion of the beloved!

And therefore do all those who flirt pay the highest prices for their bargain counter samples of imitation sentiment. Paid for in the coin of the other's opinion, flirting is a frightful extravagance; and it eventually leads to emotional bankruptcy.

Tradition warns woman that flirting cheapens her!

Man sticks to all the sex traditions about woman more obstinately than woman herself.

Did he not make them, all for his own good and glory!

And he has blunt ways of belittling any entertainment to which he has been given a pass. So he promptly tires of the woman flirt, and he establishes himself in his traditional right to speak slightly of her.

So woman loses where she would gain most—in the respect of the men she has flirted with.

Now a man may flirt with a whole shipload of fair summer tourists, and still keep a holy place in his heart for the one girl. And because he does so he believes he can fool the piper!

But he loses as surely as the woman flirt loses.

The one girl is going to find him out. And then, to the end of all her days, she will distrust him!

She may marry him. He may prove all that a model husband should be, full. But whenever he is out of her sight she will be suspicious. She will magnify common civility to another woman into a crime.

And that is the very high cost of man's flirting!

There is no horror so great to a woman as to lose the good opinion of the man she loves.

There is no experience so fatal to the peace of man as to lose the faith of the woman who loves him.

And, therefore, is flirting a scary venture.

For there is no counterfeit coin to bribe the piper with.

What does he think of me?

What does she think of me

These are test questions when a man and a woman are more than friends.

If they are embarrassed by the answer they must expect to get the piper's bill.

If they are proud of the answer Cupid himself will come collecting and will offer a marriage license as a receipt in

SAFETY BOARD TO MAKE AN INQUIRY

Chief Abbott Demands a Hearing on Bauer Charges and It is Granted.

BAUER TO BE CALLED

Chief of Police Dayton P. Abbott today demanded that the board of safety investigate the charges of crookedness in the department made a week ago by Councilman J. J. Bauer.

Joseph C. Hutzell, chairman of the board announced later that the chief's demand would be acceded to and that Councilman Bauer would be subpoenaed to appear before the board and relate under oath whatever it is he knows to be wrong in the police department.

Chief Abbott appeared before the council last night and asked the privilege of the floor for a personal statement, and it was granted. He said that charges of crookedness in the police department had been made on the floor of the council and that, as head of the police and the bearer of responsibility for the conduct and efficiency of the men, he had come to demand a statement of the charges or the retraction of them by the man who made them.

In reply Councilman Bauer declared he had not charged crookedness in the department.

"I have the highest respect for Chief Abbott and I did not say that there was graft or crookedness in his department. There are some things in the department that he ought to know, and if he doesn't know them he ought not to be chief of police. I may tell about these things later."

Councilman Bauer again protested his regard for the chief and insisted that he had a right to criticise any department of the city government and was not going to be bulldozed out of doing so. He did not, however, give the slightest intimation of the things he knows and the board of safety will try to find out in process of formal inquiry what the councilman knows that on the floor of the council he declared he "was afraid to tell and ashamed to tell."

In the course of his remarks last night Councilman Bauer declared that there were several city officials that "would not be drawing their salaries very long if the truth were known about them." Mayor Grice he characterized as an official who "had been a piece of putty in the hands of a few who had tried to benefit themselves at the expense of the city."

CITY BREVITIES.

A public pedro party will be given Friday afternoon at the Star theater hall by Knights and Ladies of Security No. 1427.

Officials of the degree team and orchestra of the Fort Wayne lodge of Moose have completed all decorations for the ice cream social and concert to be held this evening at Swinney park.

SHRIEKING DOPER CULLED.

Osborne Hunter, Toledo, was arrested on Calhoun street near the Pennsylvania railroad about noon today by Officer Cheviron. Hunter was sitting on the curb either dead asleep or shaming beautifully. At the police station a crude but thoroughly equipped dope outfit was found in Osborne's clothes. After being locked up he inaugurated a perfectly appointed fit and bellowed and shrieked, growled and barked, moaned and groaned and did some bodily contortions wonderful to look upon. The fit did not get him any dope. His arms are punctured from wrist to shoulder with the needle.

UNDERGOES OPERATION.

William Burdge, of South Hanna street, the young man who suffered a severe attack of obstruction of the bowels last week, is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital and is recovering rapidly from an operation performed Friday by Dr. Miles F. Porter and Dr. C. G. Beall.

ADVERTISE FOR BIDS.

The board of safety is advertising for bids to furnish two automobiles for use of the chief and assistant chief of the fire department. The hearing is fixed for Sept. 12. At last night's meeting of the board the tank concerns were ordered to choose another color than red for boxes at automobile stations. The fire alarm boxes being the same color, confusion is feared.

Richard A. Keenan, of Sheridan, Wyo., is in the city the guest of his brother, H. J. Keenan, proprietor of the Anthony hotel.

BUDGETS INTACT; LEVY IS BOOSTED

Estimates of Comptroller Stand, But Council Elevates Tax Rate.

THE MUNICIPAL NEWS

TO RUN THE CITY IN 1914.

—Appropriations—

Department of finance	$ 31,545.00
Department of law	2,900.00
Municipal court	2,050.00
Dept. of public works	164,505.00
Dept. of public safety	184,474.00
Dept. of public health	9,415.00
Total	$394,889.00

—Tax Levy—

Appropriation account	$ .855
Park fund, general expenses	.085
Park fund, park music	.005
Sinking fund	.05
Track elevation fund	.10
Garbage plant fund	.03
Playground fund	.0125
Policemen's pension fund	.01
Firemen's pension fund	.01
Monument fund	.0025
Total	$1.16

Passing ordinances that establish the annual municipal appropriations exactly as the estimates came from Comptroller W. S. Cutshall but raise the tax levy 4 cents above the comptroller's recommendations, the city council last night made provisions for running the city of Fort Wayne during the year 1914.

There was opposition to both ordinances, but it was maintained by members with more a view to their places in the record than with any expectation that the measures would be modified.

The tax levy was fixed at $1.16, the rate agreed upon a week previously in committee of the whole. The 4 cents added to the comptroller's recommendation was the result of the majority's resolve to keep the track elevation levy at 10 cents and to add 1 cent more to the garbage plant fund.

The small increase of pay for the first lieutenants of the fire department and the provision for a captain of detectives and additional sergeants for that branch of the police department were not disturbed, although there had been opposition to both items that it was believed might defeat them.

Why They Opposed Them.

In explaining his vote against the levy of $1.16 President Louis S. C. Schroeder said that the rate of 10 cents for track elevation was going to take out of the pockets of the people a great deal of money that would not be needed next year and he was irreconcilably opposed to the principle of such a course. He declared that 7 cents for the purpose would produce all the money that could possibly be used next year and he thought it wrong to take more.

Van Sweringen and Bauer based their opposition on the absence of any specification that the park levy of 3 cents should be used for river improvements. Haller and Folger had opposed the provisions for additional firemen and for increased pay for the fire lieutenants.

The ayes on the roll-call were Boughter, Braun, Dittoe, Hamilton, Pfleger, Rogge, Strodel and Welch. Sarver, of the Seventh ward, and Wagner, of the Sixth, were absent.

Defeat Isolation Hospital Plan.

By an overwhelming vote the council defeated the ordinance by which it was proposed to transfer the present isolation hospital to the Anti-Tuberculosis society, which organization was to provide a suitable cottage for isolation purposes. Hon. P. A. Randall, president of the Anti-Tuberculosis society, again addressed the council urging the provision. Dr. H. O. Bruggeman, of the city board of health, voiced a strenuous opposition to the plan that made a strong impression on the council. He declared the isolation hospital wholly unsuited to the purposes for which the Anti-Tuberculosis society wanted to use it. Frank E. Singrey asked permissioin to address the council to announce that his brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Singrey, who have been in charge of the isolation hospital for the past eight years, had yesterday resigned because they believed the council was going to make the proposed change at the hospital.

Motor Truck Ordinance Passed.

The council passed the ordinance appropriating $5,000 to the board of public safety for the purpose of buying two automobile trucks for use of the chief and assistant chief of the fire department. The money is available and the purchases will be made as soon as possible by the board of safety. The ordinance creating the office of police matron and fixing her salary at $75 per month was not passed, as it was expected the measure would be. The committee on rules, regulations and ordinances was not ready to report and asked more time. It is understood that the committee wants to know something more definite than it now knows about quarters for the matron when she shall have begun her duties.

The ordinance designed to prevent the nuisance of powerful searchlights on automobiles and to abate the further nuisance of the indiscriminate use of signalling devices was killed after an attempt to amend it. Several councilmen opposed it strongly. Dittoe declared the attempt to regulate the use of signals a joke. Rogge pronounced the entire scope and detail of the ordinance a joke.

An ordinance was introduced giving the park board authority to order the reconstruction of the shade tree system on East Wayne street for a distance of two squares, from Grant avenue to Glasgow avenue. An attempt to pass the measure under suspension of the rules failed and after a prolonged debate as to whether it should go to the committee on streets and alleys or the committee on parks and public buildings, the latter committee got it.

An ordinance to ratify the contract with W. H. Dunn for coal for the garbage crematory was sent to committee and another to name a new thoroughfare "Molitor street" was referred. An ordinances to pay $70 to Secretary Charles J. Steiss of the park board as reimbursement for his expenses on a trip to Winnipeg to attend the annual convention of the League of American Municipalities provoked a tiresome debate before the measure was passed.

Instructions were given the city attorney to inquire into the complaint that the Keller-Braun Stone company is occupying public ground with its plant at Fairfield avenue and the Nickel Plate railway.

Comptroller Cutshall's reports on financial conditions were referred.

CHANGE IN BAILHE TRIO.

Franz Wagner, Famous Cellist of Chicago, Becomes Member of Organization.

The noted cello player, Franz Wagner, has been engaged to play in the Bilhe Trio and to be a member of the faculty of the European School of Music, in place of Nicolai Zedeler, who, with Mrs. Zedeler, have become members of a concert company to travel for two years, because of great opportunities both in remuneration and opportunity.

Mr. Wagner first came to America as cello soloist of the St. Paul orchestra. He was engaged, while occupying that position, by the Thomas orchestra, with whom he remained for several seasons. He has been connected as a teacher with the American conservatory and the Chicago Musical college, was a member of the famous Listermann quartet, later with the Chicago Symphony orchestra toured all the states. He is the teacher with whom Fort Wayne's progressive young woman player, Miss Alelia Reynolds, has studied. George Bailhe, at the head of the European school, feels that he has been fortunate in securing Mr. Wagner as a teacher and as a member of the Bailhe Trio.

Fort Wayne will regreat losing Mr. Zedeler for he made many personal friends and won great admiration for his work, but musical people will welcome so fine an artist as Mr. Wagner with due appreciation of his attainments.

SMITH 'LOWS HE AINT "SKEERED"

Writes that He Will Murder His Jinx on Local Lot.

WOULDN'T TAKE DARE

Who said Ed Smith was skeered?"

Who said he wouldn't pitch another game on the Fort Wayne lot as long as he lived?

Nobody.

"Will he in your city Sunday next and will pitch on that date, so look out for me. I sure will break that jinx. You see how I have been going, don't you?"

ED SMITH,
Out to Break Losing Streak That Has Stood for Nine Years.

This is what Ed Smith wrote in a letter sent in reply to a message that Claude Varnell had received him of being afraid to pitch another game in Fort Wayne.

There is probably not another case in baseball like that of Ed Smith and whether there is such a thing as a jinx or a hoodoo or any of the other things that denote hard luck in the national pastime is really hard to decide.

Just suppose that eight or nine years ago some baseball crank had offered to bet you that Ed Smith would not win a game in Fort Wayne while he was a member of any club that played against the team representing this city and you had known he would stick for almost a decade.

You'd have had him doing a Thaw either at Richmond or Logansport by this time. Any man making such a proposition would have been thought either insane or laboring under that which white-aproned gents serve to a thirsty public at "five cents up" per serve.

If Smith had been a pitcher out of his class in the Central or even if he had been the rawest recruit that ever stuck a spike in a pitching slab the bet would have been so good that any man with sporting blood in his veins would have broken a thumb getting in his pocket for the money.

Ed Smith is a good pitcher and has always been a good one since he joined the Central league after a fling in the majors. If he were a free agent today he could get a job with any club on the circuit at the top salary price because he has a good head and a good arm and with ordinary support will win.

This time he has everything to win and nothing to lose and he may be able to accomplish a feat that he has been striving for. His case is certainly a peculiar one and probably there is no other of its kind.

Certain pitchers are firm in the belief that they can not win on certain parks in the leagues to which they belong. Most baseball players have what they designate as a jinx park on the circuit but all of them have been able to accomplish something on these unlucky grounds and none has ever had such a streak as the Grand Rapids owner-pitcher has had here.

HOPE AINSWORTH CAN TAKE THIRD

YOUNG LOSES SECOND

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 27.—Members of the Fort Wayne team hope that Earl Ainsworth, the Titian blonde shunted over to the Fort Wayne club when the Youngstown combination cashed in and quit the short-lived Interstate, can take the third game of the present series so that the Billiken band can quit the season here with two in three and a final victory on the Eva campus.

Mr. Ainsworth said he would unless Manager James T. Burke changes his plan when he reached the playing field and decided to send Louis Loudermilk after the Knollers so that he can alternate with a right and a left hander.

Milo Stratton does not hit the ball safely very often but when he does he generally combs it when there is a runner on the paths and this very habit of his was the cause of Grover Cleveland Young's downfall in the Tuesday performance.

Young is the same sort of a good pitcher that Frederick Cyclone Alberts was when he was a member of the Fort Wayne hurling staff of the first year of the Central league. He was patterned after the news from the hospital that "the operation was eminently successful but the patient succumbed and due notice of the obsequies will appear later."

There is no denying that he has been pitching excellent ball all the year and has had but one serious slump but he is not a consistent winner and this is largely due to ill luck. If any member of the team has a bit of bad work in his system he generally saves it until Young is in the box.

Ollie Welch reached home in the first inning of the game with run No. 2, but in passing third he omitted to touch the bag and when the ball was thrown to a player on the sack he was called out and his was the third of the inning.

O'Mara opened with a single and Colligan advanced him with a bunt. Welch hit a hard rap at Dick Grefe and the first baseman let the ball get away from him. O'Mara scored and Welch tried for home on the play as the ball rolled to the outfield, but did a Merkle at third and was thrown out.

Grefe lifted the ball over the left field stockade for the first run of the game in the fourth inning and after two had gone to the discard Mathews picked off a hit and on a hit and run play Stratton connected for three bases and sent over the score that won the battle. Members of the Fort Wayne club will leave here tonight for Terre Haute to make a final stand of the season in a three-day session with the Terrible Tots.

DIARRHOEA QUICKLY CURED.

"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gebhart, Oriole, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. It is one of the most successful preparations that has been discovered. Thousands have testified to its value. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

MEN WHOM BASEBALL HAS MADE RICH

Frank Navin Was an Attorney-at-Law and Jumped from Nothing to Riches by Being a Student of Game.

FRANK NAVIN, THROUGH "MON" RANDALL'S EYES.

The president of the Detroit American league club is the second of the shoestring brothers, the other being Murphy of the Cubs.

To elucidate: Navin and Murphy came into the National drama with just about enough cash to wad a crutch, and today never complain of a gnawing sensation in the region of the solar plexus, due to hunger.

Navin is a native of Arian, Mich., and was admitted to the Michigan bar (judicial) before he graduated from the Detroit College of Law, thus demonstrating how bright he was at an early age.

Having graduated, he hung out his shingle as barrister. He was interested (extent not reported by biographer) in the "booky" end of the Canadian racing circuit, although not a bookmaker himself. But he followed the gee gees so successfully that he made money, meanwhile permitting Blackstone to suffer for want of exercise. Today Frank Navin is one of the best posted race followers in Detroit and can shed a tip at any time without exertion.

It was because of Navin's intimacy with things of a sporting nature that he was employed as secretary of the Detroit club by S. F. Angus when the latter was trying to make Detroit a big league town.

Just about the time that Angus was groggy from his effort along came one William H. Yawkey, youthful, a sportsman and with an eye like an eagle for a good thing.

Navin became part owner of the Detroit club with Yawkey, his experience and what money he happened to have getting him some stock. Later, when Yawkey's interests demanded his entire attention, he slipped the club presidency to Navin, with a large bundle of stock that was then paying what our leading magnates cautiously refer to as "a fair dividend."

It was Navin who employed Hugh Jennings to win three American league pennants in as many years—and Hughie did it. It was Navin who secured favorable legislation for Sunday baseball, and it was Navin, up to the time of the last world's series the team lost, who did all the clerical work in the club's business office.

WILLARD STILL IN TROUBLE.

Coroner's Verdict Will Not Free Him of Charge Made When He Was Arrested.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 27.—The death of John (Bull) Young was "unintentional by Jess Willard," according to the verdict of a coroner's jury. The death was caused, the verdict says, by "concussion of the brain due to a blow on the chin delivered by Jess Willard."

The prosecution had announced that the coroner's verdict would not alter the manslaughter charge against Willard and eleven others as a result of the fatal fight last week at the Vernon arena.

The bout was referred to as a "prize fight" in the verdict. This will be an important point in the prosecution according to Assistant District Attorney Ford, who has charge of the case.

"Prize fighting," he said, "is illegal in California, although 'boxing' is permitted.

FINDS HER CLUB HARD TO HANDLE

Woman Owner of Cardinals May Sell Interest in the Club.

IS TIRED OF TROUBLE

New York, Aug. 27.—On top of the report published that Miller Huggins may resign the management of the St. Louis Cardinals at the end of the season came inside information yesterday that the owner of the club, Mrs. Helen Hathaway Robinson Britton, is ready to sell out, convinced that running a major league baseball team is not so easy after all. Mrs. Britton, it is said, is tired of the wear and tear connected with the ownership of the Cardinals and is anxious to retire from the limelight, which has become extremely distasteful to her.

Of course Mrs. Brittton will not let the club, franchise, plant and players go for a trifling sum. It is stated by well posted baseball men that she wants $500,000, but may be willing to accept considerable less. If she finds it impossible to unload the burden at a reasonable figure Mrs. Britton will decide to try the game another year, in which case Huggins will withdraw from the management of the team and will be succeeded by Edward Konetchy, the crack first baseman whom Manager McGraw of the Giants has been trying to procure.

Inner baseball circles are discussing the affairs of the St. Louis club as a live topic these days, and the National league as a body is considerably exercised as to the future of its representative in the Mound city. It was asserted yesterday that the St. Louis club has fallen behind in receipts this year to the extent of a $65,000 deficit, which may be increased before the campaign ends in October. If the club is sold the buyer must assume these obligations entirely.

Proof is lacking that the St. Louis club had to borrow money to send the Cardinals east on the present trip. Yet this assertion is made by persons who say they are in touch with the situation. They also declare tha McLean was sold to the Giants for a sum of money that was used to pay salaries.

The McLean transaction, by the way, is explained by insiders as a clever deal to cover up the fact that the St. Louis club needed ready money. On the surface, so the gossips say, Crandall was "traded" by McGraw for McLean and was subsequently "repurchased."

As insiders tell the story Crandall never was in danger of leaving the Giants and when he was taken back by McGraw the St. Louis club received the stipulated amount of cash which the Giants privately had agreed to hand over for McLean.

The slump of the Cardinals into last position has killed patronage in St. Louis and has revived criticism of the club for the outright release of Roger Bresnahan. The St. Louis critics insist that the passing of Bresnahan was a fatal mistake, and that Huggins as his successor has failed utterly. When the St. Louis club issued a statement recently that any or all players on the team, barring Huggins, would be traded for new men capable of strengthening the Cardinals, a storm of criticism followed.

ROBBED; THROWN FROM TRAIN.

Pennsylvania Man May Die at Plymouth Hospital of Injuries.

Plymouth, Ind., Aug. 27.—Clarence H. Knox, a young man of Franklin, Pa., of good parentage, is confined to the hospital at Plymouth suffering from probably fatal injuries received when he was held up and robbed while riding on a Pennsylvania freight train. Knox had been in South Dakota working in the harvest fields. He had about $60 and decided to "beat" his way home. He alleges that when he left Chicago he fell in with two strange men whom he could not "shake," although he transferred from the Nickel Plate to the Pennsylvania. While about thirty miles west of Plymouth, he alleges the two men set upon him while he was asleep, beat him about the head until he was unconscious, then pitched him off the train, after taking his money. He was picked up by a passing train crew.

TOTS SLIP BACK IN THEIR FIGHT

Springfield Gains a Better Hold on Tail End of First Division.

HARRIS SHOWS PLUCK

Terre Haute slipped back a notch in the race for the place at the tail end of the first division of the Central league when it lost a fifteen inning matinee to the Grand Rapids club with Sherrod Smith battling against Harris, a recruit picked up a short time ago from the semi-pro ranks of Indianapolis.

While all of this was going on Rebel Keen and Joe Stanley were doing a little business on their own account at Dayton and their stick work advanced the Reapers by a ninth inning victory over unlucky Johnny Nee and his Vets.

All of the Central league teams are playing better ball now than at any time during the race in spite of the fact that first and second places are practically settled. All of the pitchers are seasoned and are capable of their best work and the players in general are hardened to the sport and able to go the longest routes without tiring.

This was demonstrated in the Terre Haute game where both pitchers stuck for the full fifteen innings, and Harris was taken out only after he had pitched the full game, and to let Alberts bat for him.

McGraw won the game in the fifteenth with a triple. In relaying the ball from the outfield to third Gorman threw badly without a chance to get the runner, and he continued home on the play.

Pieh, who has been pitching indifferent ball since he was sold to the New York Americans, was the victim at Dayton, where he was pitted against Trautman and Norton, two of the Reaper recruits. The scores:

JACK HENDRICKS DUE TO ADVANCE

Will Go Higher is a Pending Deal is Put Through.

DEALS ARE PENDING

Denver, Col., Aug. 27.—Ed Smith, of Chicago, noted fight critic and referee, is here to buy the Denver baseball club, and probably will become owner of the nine within the next two weeks, if the present owner, James C. McGill, can put through a deal which he is now negotiating for a club in either the major leagues or the American association. The two were in conference for several hours last night, but President McGill will do nothing definitely until he is sure of his proposed purchase. If Smith buys the club, as he fully intends to do, he will take over the lease on Broadway park, the local Western league franchise and the bulk of the players at present comprising the Grizzly team.

President McGill retains the privilege of taking Manager Jack Hendricks and two or three of the fastest men on the nine with him in his venture into higher league baseball.

Ed Smith is sporting editor of a Chicago newspaper and has the backing of prominent easterners. He came here from Cincinnati last week, where he refereed the Schreck-Gilbert fight.

His wife and children are staying in Denver this summer, and he will make this city his home if the deal is completed. Nothing could be learned last night regarding the figure asked by McGill, but the club is rated as the most costly in the O'Neill circuit.

EXPECT DANIELS TO SUPPORT BILL

Naval Secretary Favorable to Coal Project in Alaska.

ISSUE IS LIVE ONE

BY GILSON GARDNER.

Washington, Aug. 27.—All the indications are that Secretary Josephus Daniels, of the navy department, is about to line up in support of the Poindexter Alaska bill, providing for government coal mining and transportation in that territory.

It will be recalled that Secretary Daniels in his recent trip to the Pacific coast declared in a speech that the United States navy must have Alaska coal to supply the ships of the Pacific fleet. He was quoted as saying that he would get this coal "if he had to take a pick and shovel and dig it out himself."

Senator Poindexter has just received from Secretary Daniels a letter which indicates that Daniels is practically ready to commit the democratic administration to support the Poindexter bill. The secretary of the navy says:

"My Dear Senator: I have just reached your letter from the 1st instant which arrived while I was in the west. I do not know that you have been informed that the department is now conducting tests of Alaska coal on board the cruiser Maryland, which is now plying off the Alaskan coast. Tests will be made of two samples of this coal and it is our object to make the tests exhaustive and thorough.

"The department has mined and transported this coal to the seaboard and we are looking eagerly forward to the results of the experiment. Of course with the development of the Pacific sations we will require a great quantity of coal and oil on the coast.

"I should like very much to confer with you on this interesting topic and when you are in this vicinity I hope you will drop in to see me.

"Believe me, with sentiments of esteem and highest regard.

"Very cordially yours,

(Signed.) "JOSEPHUS DANIELS."

Senator Poindexter will confer with Secretary Daniels in a few days with regard to the bill.

Representative W. F. Murray, of Massachusetts, has secured a hearing before the interstate commerce commission of the house on his resolution calling for all information in the possession of the department of commerce and labor and the interstate commerce commission regarding ownership and control of Pennsylvania anthracite mines.

"I have reason to believe," said Mr. Murray, "that seven railroad companies, and in some cases their directing officers, through interests in various jobbing and wholesale companies, control the sale to the retailer of between 85 and 90 per cent. of the antracite coal shipped each year." It is Mr. Murray's opinion that 90 per cent of the available anthracite coal in the United States is in control of the seven roads which form the only means of shipping this coal to the markets.

"It is my opinion," continued Representative Murray, "that the freight rates on anthracite coal are based upon the costs of producing coal of those companies which operate at greatest expense, because they purchase enormous fields of comparatively poor coal in an attempt to monopolize the whole supply, and since the price of anthracite is fixed high enough to cover the costs of the company operating at highest expense, the companies which own the rich beds of virgin coal reap enormous profits."

Murray is seeking to force through his resolution which would lay bare the Pennsylvania coal monopoly. His resolution is of peculiar interest in connection with the efforts being made by Senator Poindexter and Representative Bryan to put through a bill which would avoid just such conditions in the untouched fields of Alaska.

Books, now excluded by law from the parcel post, may soon be admitted to that postal privilege. Just why books were excluded in the law as drawn is not known. There is a general belief that the express companies which now carry practically all the books shipped, have exerted their influence to prevent the government entering the book-carrying business. Under the present classification, books are subject to the third class rate of postage and a four-pound weight limit. These requirements practically exclude books from being carried in the mail. Representative "Dave" Lewis, of Maryland, the real "father" of the parcel post law, has introduced a resolution directing the postmaster general to consider immediately "the advisability of extending such classification of parcel post matter so as to include books, in order to promote the service to the public and to increase the receipt of revenue from such service."

It was representative Lewis who induced Postmaster General Burleson to increase the weight limit from eleven to twenty pounds on parcel post matter, to decrease the charge and to widen the zones. It seems probable, therefore, that he will succeed in having books included in the parcel post classifications. Lewis directs attention to the fact that the postmaster general already has the authority, subject to the consent of the interstate commerce commission, to make this change.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

NEW INDUSTRY FOR FORT WAYNE

Oxy-Acetylene Welding Factory to Be Located on Harrison Street.

FIRE ESCAPES AT ELECTRIC WORKS

Factory Buildings to Be Equipped Same as Big Office Building.

A shop for handling a general line of repair work and to do general mending of broken machinery, tools, casting, etc., rendered useless by breaks heretofore impossible of repair until the discovery of the acetylene process, will soon be added to the industrial interests of Fort Wayne. The Anderson Manufacturing company, of Coffeeville, Kan., manufacturers of the Anderson oxy-acetylene gas welding machine, have sent one of their portable plants to the city and it will be installed in the shop at the rear of 125 Brackenridge street, where repairs such as mentioned will be made and general demonstrations of the acetelyne welding process given. E. N. Stevens, the company's sales manager for Ohio, Indiana and Michigan, will have general supervision over the shop. Oxy-acetylene gas combination makes the most intense heat known to science, 6,300 degrees fahr. At this temperature the hardest metals can be welded and made as good as new. The Anderson machine generates its own gas from carbide, chlorate or potash and black oxide of manganese. In the western states the leading railroads have installed plants and by their use hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of broken machinery, which would otherwise be consigned to the scrap heap, has been reclaimed. The machine is also of great value in cutting up heavy metal and especially in wrecking structural iron and steel work, the battleship Maine having been broken up by this process. Mr. Stemens says that it is the intention of the Anderson company to establish a factory in Fort Wayne for the manufacture of the oxy-acetylene apparatus in the near future.

MACHINISTS LOCKED OUT.

Eighteen Men at Engineering Works Asked to Quit Service.

There was a lockout at the factory of the Fort Wayne Engineering and Manufacturing company yesterday, when the machinists sent in a petition for a reduction of working hours from ten to nine per day and some different arrangements concerning apprentices and working conditions than those which now prevail. Manager J. H. Haberly refused to talk concerning the situation, but from one of the machinists it was learned that the trouble was as stated in the foregoing lines. "We asked for shorter hours and some working condition changes, including that affecting apprentices," he said, "and we were told to remove our tools from the shops and call at the office for our wages. None of the machinists have taken employment elsewhere, for when this occurs it means that the men affected are no longer employes of the Fort Wayne Engineering and Manufacturing company," he continued.

The men locked out are inclined to regard the differences as only temporary and say they expect them to be adjusted when President H. C. Paul returns from the east. The company recently raised the wages of the machinists and wage matters do not figure in the present controversy. The company has just completed its new shop on Sixth street and is now making the transfer of the machinery from the old shop.

WELL PLEASED WITH CITY.

While in the city yesterday E. J. Perrish, who becomes superintendent of the Fort Wayne division of the Nickel Plate September 1, leased the Carl J. Weber house, at the end of West Berry street, and will move into it as soon as he can pack and ship his household goods from Cleveland. Mr. Perrish's family consists of himself and wife. In looking up a house yesterday, Mr. Perrish covered nearly the entire city in an automobile and expressed surprise and pleasure. He said: "I was agreeably surprised at the beauty of the residence portion of the city, the excellence of the business houses and the variety and extent of the manufacturing interests. I always considered Fort Wayne a good town, but it is much better than I thought it was prior to my trip over the city today. I am glad that I am to come here to reside and anticipate much pleasure for Mrs. Perrish and myself in meeting the people with whom we will be associated hereafter."

Mr. Perrish has been with the Nickel Plate twenty-eight years. He is a native of Terre Haute and like many boys in that city made the telegraph and railway offices a hang-out and before he realized it he was a telegrapher. For awhile he worked for the Western Union company and later with the Big Four, going to Conneaut in the capacity of telegraph operator on the Nickel Plate in 1885. In 1887 he was appointed train dispatcher and remained in that position until June 15, 1912, when he was appointed superintendent of telegraph. During the greater portion of his residence at Conneaut Mr. Perrish took an active part in national, state and municipal politics and became acquainted with national and state politicians. He attended all of the national conventions and Ohio state conventions of the last twenty-five years, included being the convention at Baltimore which nominated Wilson for president. He was mayor of Conneaut three terms, the last two consecutive, being elected by the democrats. "But I have cut out politics," he said, "and hereafter will devote my time and energies to railway work."

LABORERS DIE AT PERU.

(Peru Chronicle.)

F. Napkins, a laborer employed by the Wabash at Fort Wayne, who arrived at the hospital night before last suffering from tuberculosis, passed away at 12:30 this morning. He was 61 years of age at the time of death. He gave as his home address Scranton, Pa., but so far the authorities have been unable to locate any friends or relatives of the deceased. The body will be held a few days at the Hammond-Murphy morgue until all efforts have failed in finding his relatives.

James O'Rourke, aged 75, who was brought here to the hospital on February 20 from his home at Palms, Mich., where he was employed as a laborer by the Wabash company, passed away early this morning. He was a native of Ireland and leaves a widow, Katherine O'Rourke. The body will be taken away this afternoon on Wabash passenger train No. 4, bound for his home at Palms, where the funeral services will be held tomorrow.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE 'LIGHTS.

For the better protection of its employes, the Fort Wayne Electric works will install fire escapes on buildings ten and sixteen at the big plant on Broadway. The fire escapes will be of the same pattern as those on the office building—wide and easy of descent. Another improvement now in progress at those shops is the installation by A. Hattersley & Son of a modern sanitary closet and lavatory in the old factory building. There will be cold and hot water in the wash room, cement floor and individual wash basins. These improvements are being made without any suggestions from the employes or the factory inspectors. "We want to give our employes all possible protection and aim to make improvements whenever and wherever possible without having attention directed to it from an inspector or any one else. In fact, we prefer to have the inspector notice the improvement after they have been made, instead of suggesting that they be made," said one of the factory officials this morning.

INSTALLING PLANT AT GOSHEN.

According to the Goshen Democrat, the work of installing four boilers that were built at the shops of the Fort Wayne Foundry and Machine works and shipped some days ago will commence at the plant of the Goshen city water and lighting station this week. The engines for the plant were built by the Harrisburg Foundry and Machine works and they are now ready for shipment to Goshen. The dynamos were bought of the Fort Wayne Electric works at a cost of $11,770 and are now ready for shipment as soon as the engine shaft arrives from Harrisburg and the big dynamo is directly connected with it. The connection will be made in the Electric works. The Goshen water and light plant was destroyed some time ago.

SMALL BLAZE AT PENNSY SHOPS.

The screeching of the whistle at the Pennsylvania power plant at 7 o'clock last night indicated that a fire had broken out somewhere on the premises and the company's volunteer firemen, as well as three companies of the city department and a big crowd of people, were soon on the ground. The fire was located in the shop yards and was the result of a pair of overalls being hung up too close to an electric welding machine. The garment caught fire and the flames were communicated to the woodwork of the little building, but they were extinguished before any great damage was done. Water did more damage than the fire, but even that is not serious.

WORKING HALF TIME.

Section Foreman Crist Fosler, of the Wabash, is working his force of eight section hands every other day at present. A week ago instructions were issued from headquarters to cut the force down one-half and lest he would be unable to get more men when needed, Mr. Fosler concluded to keep those he had and allow them to work only half time. Other sections are less fortunate, being restricted to the foreman and one man. There is too much work on the Fort Wayne section to make so great a cut in the force.

MOVING CULVER STUDENTS.

Frank P. Parnin, district passenger agent of the Nickel Plate, is at Sulver today, looking after the business growing out of the close of the summer school at the academy. The attendance this year is a third greater than any former year, being estimated at 600, and the students come from all parts of the United States, making the railroad business quite an item. The Pennsylvania also has a representative at the school and will run a special train out of Culver via the Vandalia and the Pennsylvania lines.

LOUIS GOLLMER IN HOSPITAL.

Louis Gollmer, who was operated upon for appendicitis in the Lutheran hospital last Monday, is getting along nicely and will recover in due time. Mr. Gollmer is superintendent of construction for the Lewis & Kitchen company, of Chicago, manufacturers and installers of heating plant apparatus, and he was taken ill while supervising the installation of the heating plant in the Rudisill school building. He is a Fort Wayne man.

TWO WABASH MEN HURT.

Comelo Caridi had his right foot crushed yesterday afternoon, when an angle iron fell on the member. He was sent to the Wabash hospital at Peru last night. A. E. Stevens, machinist's helper in the Wabash shops, also had a foot injured, but less seriously, by an iron falling upon it at the shops yesterday afternoon. He was sent home in a cab after receiving attention from Dr. C. F. Kaadt.

BROUGHT WIFE FROM CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. J. Breedlove have returned from California and he reported for duty on the G. R. & I., where he is a fireman, this morning, after an absence of two months. Mrs. Breedlove was in poor health and last winter went to California to remain with relatives in hopes that the change would improve her condition. She is much better than she was when she left the city.

IRON BUSINESS DULL.

The business conditions in the bar iron trade is not very satisfactory at present. "We have some old orders on hand and are getting a few new ones, but if conditions do not improve soon, the Fort Wayne Rolling Mills will not be able to run full blast every day of the week," said President H. C. Rockhill, of the company. "There is no intermediate point in operations in rolling mills business; they must run full time or not at all," said Mr. Rockhill.

TWO ACCIDENTS OF A KIND.

While reaming out a locomotive cylinder at the Pennsylvania erecting shop yesterday, Machinist J. P. Breihof had both eyes filled with iron rust and dust, a most painful injury. Machinist J. W. McCurdy, of the same shop, suffered a similar injury yesterday and is also off duty for treatment by the company's oculist.

MANY SHOPMEN AT PICNIC.

There were few Irishmen at work in the shops this afternoon. The annual picnic of the Irish people is in progress at the park today and all people of that nationality who could get leave of absence from their duties in the shops are taking part in the exercises.

SENT TRAIN TO CULVER.

Pennsylvania engine 7607, in charge of Conductor Frank Granger and with Engineer John Doescher at the throttle, left the city at 9:10 o'clock this morning for Plymouth, where it picked up and conveyed to Chicago six coaches filled with boys who had been attending the summer term at the Culver Military academy.

CALLED TO MOTHER'S BEDSIDE.

Conductor Lee Kanaga and Baggagemaster F. J. Kanaga, of the Pennsylvania, were summoned to Butler, Pa., last night by a message stating that their mother was very ill. The patient is quite old and has been in poor health for some months.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Chief Engineer George Hautch, of the Pennsylvania power plant, has gone to Rome City for a week's outing.

After an illness of a month Oscar McCormick, of the Pennsylvania supplies department, has returned to his work.

Henry Gumbert, upholsterer at the Pennsylvania shops, is on duty again there, after a week with friends in Grand Rapids.

Pipefitter E. J. Wefel, of the Wabash shops, left this morning for Ashley, where he will be engaged on special work two or three days.

Machinist Fred Geerken, of the Pennsylvania shops, was taken ill this morning, soon after reporting for duty, and had to return home.

W. B. Madara, special man in the mechanical department of the Pennsylvania shops, has gone to Altoona, Pa., on business for the company.

Machinist D. C. Tegtmeyer, who had a finger crushed two weeks ago, was able to resume work in the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

George Meyers, employed in the Electric works, sustained a painful cut in his left hand by falling against a sharp iron yesterday. Dr. Schultz attended him.

Machinist J. Madden is absent from his work in the Pennsylvania erecting shop today on account of the serious condition of his wife, who has been ill for some time.

Martin Cramer, foreman of the shipping gang at the Pennsylvania shops and yards, accompanied by his daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. W. C. Cassidy and Miss Emma Cassidy, left for Detroit this morning. They will spend a week with Ed Cramer and his family.

A spark from the smokestack at the plant of the Wayne Spoke and Bending company, on Warsaw street, started a fire in the roof over the boiler house at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. Some of the city firemen responded to a call and extinguished the flames before a loss of more than $15 had resulted from the fire.

Word has been received here of a change in the office of yardmaster at Conneaut, on the Nickel Plate. September 1 W. L. Cantlin retires to resume work as a conductor on the road and F. Friend, who is now a conductor, becomes yardmaster. The exchange of positions, it is understood, was by mutual request of the men affected.

The huge pile of coal a short distance west of the Nickel Plate round house, in which fire has existed for several months, took on alarming conditions yesterday and the firemen from engine house No. 7 spent several hours in subduing the flames. The fire will not be entirely extinguished until its location has been reached in the daily use of the coal for fuel purposes, which may be several weeks. Fires of this kind are not uncommon.

P. F. Landy, for several years employed in the local Pennsylvania shops and later as foreman of the round house, has been appointed general foreman of the C. & W. shops at Cincinnati. Mr. Landy left here about two years ago to engage in real estate business at South Bend and soon afterwards resumed shop work at Lima and later at the Cincinnati shops of which he has just been appointed general foreman.

BREEN TO PASS ON SECURITIES

Named as Representative of Secretary McAdoo in Fort Wayne.

CROP-MOVING FUNDS

Washington, Aug. 27.—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo will dump $1,050,000 into the state of Indiana to facilitate the moving of the crops.

This announcement was made at the treasury department yesterday afternoon, when the secretary announced the apportionment of $46,500,000 for crop purposes.

The sum of $24,700,000 goes to banks in the fourteen western states and $21,800,000 to the thirteen southern states and the District of Columbia.

It will be the first instance on record where the Hoosier state has received any amount direct from the federal treasury for crop moving purposes, and, while financial conditions in Indiana are in fine shape and the banks, through their own resources, would prove responsive to the needs of the situation, this aid from the treasury is welcomed and will be a guarantee against any sort of a stringency.

Protect Entire State.

The entire amount that is to be sent into Indiana will go to three cities—Indianapolis, Evansville and Fort Wayne—and later the secretary of treasury will give out instructions in which he will insist that these centers of distribution shall furnish money on fair terms to their correspondent banks throughout the state so that the entire state may share, to the widest possible extent, the government's beneficence.

Secretary McAdoo also created some surprise by announcing that he had named a personal representative in each city who is to represent the treasury in all matters pertaining to loans of government money, acting in conjunction with the committee named by the local clearing house. This position is one of distinction and responsibility, but carries no salary. The personal representative will be a check on the clearing house and will pass on the sufficiency of securities offered for government loans.

Pass on Securities.

His personal representatives in Indiana are: Indianapolis, William L. Elder; Evansville, John W. Boehne; Fort Wayne, William P. Breen. No explanation was given as to how the secretary of the treasury had arrived at these selections, but members of the Indiana congressional delegation highly commend his judgment in choosing Messrs. Elder, Boehne and Breen, who have the confidence of the public and who are known as capable business men.

Mr. Boehne formerly was mayor of Evansville and served two terms in congress.

Secretary McAdoo made no announcement as to the proportion of the Indiana fund that each of the three Indiana cities will get.

Evansville asked for $300,000 and Fort Wayne for $500,000, while the bankers who came on to represent the clearing house of Indianapolis did not ask for any specific amount for the state capital.

The money that is to be sent to Indiana will be available next month and probably will be sent in installments during September, October and November.

GIVES TROUSERS TO TRAMP.

Purdue Professor Learns Later $80 Was In Pocket.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 27.—Prof. Mark H. Liddell, of the Purdue faculty, proved his kind heartedness today when he gave a tramp an old pair of trousers and a pocketbook containing $80 in money. The latter part of the gift was unintentional, however. Marshal McCowan, of West Lafayette, is searching for the tramp.

FEMALES TWAIN ANSWER A CALL

Wife and Ex-Wife Race for Witness Stand in the Blood Case.

NEWS OF THE POLICE

"Mrs. Blood, please take the witness stand," said Prosecutor Stephen A. Callahan in the city court this morning, after Allen Blood had entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of neglecting his children. Two women broke from the little room reserved for women and started for the stand.

The taller of the two was ahead and quite ready to take a part in the proceedings. The other woman looked puzzled, and not altogether pleased.

"Who are you?" asked the prosecutor, addressing the lady who was leading the race.

"I'm Mrs. Blood," she replied.

"Wife or ex-wife?" querried the prosecutor.

"Wife; he's my husband."

"We don't want you; step aside. We want the divorced wife," and the smaller woman took the stand and in a few words indicated that Blood is bad blood. He didn't support her or their two children and she was obliged to get a divorce, granted in May, 1912. Within three weeks Blood married his present wife. Blood has not obeyed the orders of the court to pay $25 a month for care of his children, now 3 and 5 years old. For a time he kept up his payments, but the burdens of the new family he had founded were too heavy. Some weeks ago he tried to commit suicide, while living on Barr street in this city. About the first of August he took his second wife and went to Lima, Ohio, where he had been at work until his arrest yesterday. In that time he had sent his former wife but $2 and that was received but yesterday. Detective Immel brought Blood back last evening, the prisoner's second wife coming along.

Judge Mungovan bound Blood over to the circuit court and in default of $500 bond the man went to jail.

The two Mrs. Bloods sat for almost an hour in the witness retiring room facing each other, but exchanging no words, while waiting for the case to come on. The ex-Mrs. Blood testified that she takes in washings to support her two children.

Cary Crawford in Again.

Cary Crawford, of Hoagland, was sent over to jail on the continuance of drunk charge that will be heard next Monday. He was arrested a week ago and locked up in default of a similar bond, the purpose being to get him sober. He promised to be good and two days ago his bond was reduced to $25 and he procured surety and got out. Yesterday he took a howling souse inside of himself and was arrested at the Pennsylvania depot. Crawford's father owns a store at Hoagland and another son manages it because the father is an invalid. Cary Crawford gets drunk, helps himself to money from the till and abuses his father. He was arrested primarily in the hope that a brief term of confinement would get him sober to stay.

Other Police Court Cases.

John Little struck town last night at 8 o'clock, acquired a heavy load by 10 and before midnight was picked off by Plainclothesman Junk. Little was ugly and difficult to manage. He went over for eleven days.

Sam Miller fared forth from his home in Garrett yesterday to search for adventure and his quest was fruitful. He found interior accommodations for a cargo of booze that brought his hulk below the Plimsoll line and fell on the Nickel Plate track near Calhoun street, and lay there an obstruction to the traffic of that busy railroad when some men found him, set him on his feet and started him going. He navigated to Columbia street, where he foundered completely and was sent in. Judge Mungovan let him go.

George Simeton and George Woodworth, drunks, were turned loose.

John McCready, arrested for assault and battery on his wife, was held until tomorrow, the woman being unable to appear today.

ly held Thaw, to hold court and consider motions to quash the charge on which Thaw is held. That would bring Thaw within the grasp of the immigration authorities. Dupois declined and would not countenance another magistrate sitting in his place.

Judge Globensky this afternoon granted the plea for discontinuance of the habeas corpus writ and remanded Thaw to jail. This was a complete victory for the Thaw lawyers.

Early in Battle Array.

After an almost sleepless night, during which attack and counter-attack were discussed by the leaders, the opposing forces in the case of Harry K. Thaw, held in the Sherbrooke jail as a fugitive from Matteawan, were in battle array this morning, prepared for a struggle to determine whether Stanford White's slayer shall remain in his cell indefinitely or be arraigned in court, freed of the charge on which he is held and turned over to the immigration authorities to be sent to Vermont. Thaw's lawyers, having served notice late yesterday that they had given notice withdrawing the habeas corpus writ on which Thaw was to come in court today, maintained that this insured his detention in jail until such time as he saw fit to elect trial on the charge of being a fugitive, either before a magistrate or before the king's bench, criminal side, in October. In withdrawing the writ they contended that they were well within their legal rights.

This was the situation early this morning when Franklin Kennedy, deputy attorney general of New York, hurrying here after a trip to Ottawa, where he conferred with the Dominion department of the interior with reference to Thaw's deportation, announced that Canadian counsel, acting through the crown prosecutor, would seek to force Thaw into court tday. He maintained, moreover, that the move of Thaw's lawyers to abandon the habeas corpus writ was irregular and would at least have to be sanctioned by Superior Judge Arthur Globensky, who granted it last week. Judge Globensky reached here during the night from Montreal and it was expected that Thaw's lawyers would consult him about the writ as soon as he came in his chambers. It was not known in advance whether it would be necessary to take the matter into open court.

Mr. McKeown Indignant.

W. C. McKeown, Thaw's chief Dominion lawyer, was indignant at the attitude of the New York state forces in their declaration that they would practically draw Thaw into court today.

"That might go in Dutchess county, New York," he said, "but not in the district of St. Francis, Quebec. They might as well boast that they were going to batter down the jail doors and carry off Thaw by force. It is ridiculous. There must be some dignity about our court procedure. The state of New York cannot jump in and run things to suit itself at a moment's notice.

"We have precedent in our desire and right to withdraw the writ of habeas corpus. If we choose to let our client stay in jail, it is our affair. Getting him out is their trouble. The bungling commitment on which he is held specifies no time for its return and we believe Thaw can demand trial by jury."

Thaw in Blissful Ignorance.

Thaw in his hospital-ward cell in the ancient jail on the hill knew nothing of the approaching conflict over the increasingly complex phase of his case. When he retired last night after a day spent in furthering his "publicity campaign" now an obsession with him he had been assured by his lawyers that he was to be secure in jail for several weeks to come and that the withdrawal of the habeas corpus writ was a mere formality already consummated. Thaw perfunctorily fixed his signature to the prayer for discontinuance and asked no questions.

John E. Mack, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., who left here last week after doing missionary work for New York in the Thaw case at Ottawa, came back again early today.

Prepared for any contingency, Mack brought with him Sheriff Drew, of Berlin, N. H., and Sheriff Richard Beattie and Deputy J. Brown, of Maidstone, Vt. "If they put Harry Thaw across the border we want to be ready to seize him in either state," said Mack.

Mr. McKeown and J. N. Greenshield, Thaw's chief counsel, reached the court house shortly after 9 o'clock and went into conference with the judge. Crowds began to collect in the court room waiting for developments. It was apparent that the first skirmish would be over the habeas corpus writ issue.

Orders Thaw Into Court.

Hurrying from the judge chambers the judge instructed the sheriff that while he was undecided whether to sustain the withdrawal of the writ, Thaw should be brought into court during arguments on the question. Nearly all of the lawyers for both sides were in court when this announcement was made. The news spread swiftly and the crowd began to grab seats and standing room.

Jerome came into court at 9:50 and took a seat in the front row directly in front of the judge's bench. He had to convince an attendant of his connection with the case before the latter would give him a chair. A touch of color was added to the scene by the presence of four Dominion federal police, wearing spiked helmets. Mr. Conger stood talking to Jerome. Three hundred persons were standing up back of the seating area.

Thaw came into court at 10 o'clock. He was calm and wore a new grey suit. He sat with his back to the spectators and began talking easily with his lawyers. Thaw was brought to court in a cab in custody of the high constable and Governor La Force, of the jail. He was not handcuffed.

Thaw's Face Flushed.

Thaw's face was flushed. Counsel lounged about the tables, growing impatient for the judge's appearance. A newspaper photographer rapped for order and when the crowd looked up took a picture.

Thaw appeared to enjoy the attention he was attracting and laughed outright at the antics of the photographers. Now and then he adjusted his gray-striped necktie.

The judge entered at 10:20. Everybody rose as he took his seat. "No. 967 ex patre—case of Harry K. Thaw," read the clerk.

The court took papers in the case and began perusing them. W. L Shurtleff, for Thaw, then addressed the court: "Your lordship," he said, "since this prisoner obtained a writ of habeas corpus he has filed a notice of discontinuance, thereby declaring that no other proceedings be held in this course. This action, I believe, is covered under our code of civil procedure."

Here the lawyer referred to clauses in the code bearing on the case. "Therefore," he continued, "we stand in the position of having made no application for a writ."

Court Suppresses Verret.

Hector Verret, of counsel for New York state, interrupted the proceedings to say that New York desired to resist the abandonment of the writ.

"I do not wish to hear from your side of the case," said the court. "This is an ex-patre proceeding."

As this practically sustained Thaw's lawyers, the crowd in the court room rose to its feet, cheering madly.

While the cheering was at its height the clerk cried out that the case was adjourned until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

MOVING PICTURE PLANT IS MODERN WONDER.

EXTERIOR OF LUBIN PLANT AT PHILADELPHIA, SHOWING GREAT GLASS DAYLIGHT STUDIO.

Joseph Smiley, one of the directors, is giving a few final instructions to the camera man before the machine begins to record the scene. Arthur V. Johnson is kneeling in the foreground. The players usually rehearse a scene two or three times, the director calling to them, suggesting improvements, facial expressions and dialogue to suit the action. Then he shouts "Ready!" The camera man starts, the director holds his stop watch and away they go. If the scene

DRYING THE FILMS IN MECHANICAL DEPARTMENT.

(By Gertrude M. Price.)

One of the modern seven wonders of the world is a large moving picture plant.

A trip around and through it is an education, an entertainment and a revelation.

It is a thoroughly up-to-date world of its own; a wonderful combination of unique artistic and mechanical devices for the manufacture of a screen play.

It would take days to become thoroughly acquainted with all the departments of a big picture plant. But I am going to tell you a little about some of the things you will see in a single visit to one of the important concerns which are supplying "movies" to the public.

In the first place, if you have never seen a "movie" plant you will probably be astonished to note the financial investment in its general buildings and exterior accessories.

The Lubin plant has three distinct buildings as well as other lesser ones. The first includes the large offices of the firm; the public dining rooms for players; the scenario departments; the store rooms, etc.

The second, one through which an outsider may go, by special permission, houses the mechanical department, where it is possible to follow the life of a film from the time it leaves the camera man's machine until it is ready for shipment.

Unless a person has seen it for themselves, they could never believe the work attached to this process; the amount of expensive machinery used, or the number of workers employed.

There are the developing rooms, the drying rooms, the testing rooms, the matching rooms and the exhibition rooms.

The dark room, where the developing is done, is a smooth place through which you are taken by a guide. The employes work over their films by the aid of shaded electric lights; the room itself is as black as night. You cannot see your hand before your face.

In this big building there is also the great and curious property shop, where almost anything in the way of a "property" can be found at very, very short notice.

There is furniture of all ages, utensils of every nation and costumes of all countries.

Across the well-kept grounds is the immense glass daylight studio where it is possible to put on any number of interiors at the same time under natural light.

A part of the building is fitted up with a remarkable set of artificial lights under the direction of a thoroughly experienced electrician and his helpers, where scenes can be made when there isn't any sunlight.

In the upper picture of this group you will see a reproduction of one of the interiors which was taken in the skylight studio.

has not taken too long—for action is measured by feet and seconds in a "movie" play—the scene is called complete and rehearsal begins for another. Quite often the last scene is acted first and the players know nothing of the story of the picture except as they are told at the minute.

Maybe the next scene requires a rugged outdoor background which can only be reached by automobiles, and possibly by rail. Then off go actors, camera man and director.

Occasionally "retakes" are necessary. But if there are many of these, the director is held responsible and soon has to seek another job. Sometimes a picture costs $5,000. So a "retake" is a mighty big loss to the concern.

And that's the way it is done.

IF IT'S HERE IT'S WORTH.. RURODE'S IF IT'S WORTHY. IT'S HERE FIRST.

NO LOOSE COINS IN MAIL BOX.

New Regulation a Relief to Rural Mail Carriers.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Picking up loose money has grown to be such a hardship for the overworked rural free delivery carriers that the postoffice department today issued an order warning reckless citizens against leaving loose coins lying around. Hereafter coins must be tied in bundles or enclosed in envelopes whenever the patron of a rural route wants stamps from a carrier and leaves the necessary amount in the wayside box.

"Patrons should enclose coins in an envelope," says the order, "wrap them securely in paper or deposit them in a coin holding receptacle so they can be easily and quickly taken from boxes, and carriers will be required to lift such coins and, when accompanied by mail for dispatch, attach the requisite stamps."

HISTORY OF COLLEGE

Graduates of the old Methodist Episcopal college, which for years was located at the corner of Wayne and College streets, in this city, and which later became Taylor university at Upland, will gather in Fort Wayne tomorrow for their eighth annual reunion, and is believed that by tonight a large number of former students and officials of the well known institution of learning will be in the city.

The Methodist Episcopal college was founded in Fort Wayne in 1847 under the direction of the Northern Indiana M. E. conference, and the corner stone of the building was laid June 24, of that year, with Rev. Samuel Brenton in charge of the ceremonies. The first president of the institution was Rev. A. C. Huestis, and the last head of the college here was Dr. C. B. Stemen, under whose administration the merger with Taylor university, at Upland, was effected. Early in Dr. Stemen's regime the college was turned over to the National Association of Local Preachers, and in June, 1899, the name officially changed to Taylor university. Two years later it moved to Upland, Ind. July 31, 1893, the college was rechartered and opened with Professor T. Reade as president.

Tipton Man Found Guilty of Opreating "Blind Tiger."

Tipton, Ind., Aug. 27.—William A. Brockman, found guilty of operating a "blind tiger" in this city, will have to serve a jail sentence and pay the fine assessed. Brockman was found guilty in the mayor's courthere but appealed the case and asked for a change of venue. The case was tried in the Clinton circuit court, where he was found guilty and was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail and fined $100. A petition was sent to Governor Ralston asking that he suspend sentence as Brockman's family was in need of his time and money. The governor refused to interfere. It is likely that Brockman will appeal to the supreme court.
